

Surprise Storm Cuts Some Power in Area

9 Inches Here, 14 in County

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

A pre-Spring snowstorm that had been forecast for this area, blasted Kingston and other Ulster County communities on Wednesday with from 9 to 12 inches with the most accumulation recorded in the southern section of the county.

Storm Death Listed

The death of a Greene County man who had been shoveling snow near his home was believed attributed to the storm. Schools in most areas including the Kingston Consolidated School District, Saugerties and other communities were forced to cancel today's sessions. Snow covered limbs were snapped off trees, ripping down power lines that caused electric service failures in the Rifton and West Park areas.

Two persons were seriously injured yesterday afternoon as the result of a two-car head-on collision on Route 212, Town of Saugerties. A woman was injured when her car skidded off Blue Mountain Road and wrapped itself around a tree. The injured were taken to hospitals here.

State Police investigated the sudden death of Henry Elwyn Sr., 64, of near Leeds. His death was due to a heart attack according to Greene County Coroner Henry Millsbaugh.

Collapsed on Steps

Trooper E. E. LaPlante, said Elwyn arrived home about 5:30 p. m. and his car became stuck in snow. Troopers reported Elwyn shoveled a short time, then went into his house and sat on the steps leading to the living room, where he collapsed.

His wife, Gladys, was at home at the time. Elwyn, who had been treated for a heart condition, was rushed to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, by the Citizens' Hose Rescue Squad. He was pronounced dead by a physician at the hospital. Authorities said the heart condition apparently had been aggravated by over exertion from shoveling the snow to free the family car.

BCI Investigator Patrick Romagnano, of Leeds investigated. The city engineer's office recorded an official 9 inches in Kingston. Accumulation in other parts of the county was reported as high as 14 inches in some parts.

29 Inches for March

Records at the City Engineer's office show a total of 29 inches for March so far, a record for the month since 1933. Total accumulation in Feb., 1962 in this city was 35 inches, an all-time high for one month.

Many meetings and social activities for yesterday were cancelled. Many fender bender motor vehicle accidents were reported and an unestimated number of cars slid on snow-covered roads along highways outside the city limits.

Poughkeepsie reported an official 14 inches of snow. Snow removal forces from the County Highway Department interrupted operations after highways were opened to allow workers time for supper and rest. In the city highway crews worked through the night and today continued pushing back snow and salting the pavement to soften the hardpack snow that was tracked down by traffic.

Taconic Speed Cut

Speed limit on the Taconic Parkway in Columbia County was reduced to 35 miles an hour. Cornell Firehouse in Downtown Kingston was opened last night because of the snow, but was ordered closed at 8 a. m. today.

Highway officials reported the heaviest snowfall hit the southern part of the county. Less accumulation was reported north of Kingston and in the northwestern part of the county.

Two persons were seriously injured and two cars heavily damaged at 5:15 p. m. Wednesday, when the vehicles were involved in a head-on collision on a curve on Route 212 about one mile west of Centerville, Town of Saugerties.

State Trooper Robert Molloy of the Kingston barracks said the cars were operated by Primo Montafia, 54, Box 274, Woodstock, and Maude Alexander, 45, of Shotwell Road, Woodstock. Montafia was driving a 1966 sedan owned by the New York State Labor Department, Division of Safety, and the woman was operating a 1961 sedan.

One Driver Cited

Montafia was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance. He suffered a fractured right arm and lacerations of the cheek. The Woodstock woman was taken to Kingston Hospital by the same ambulance service. She sustained multiple lacerations of the head and face.

Montafia was cited by Trooper C. E. Anderson for failure to keep to the right. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody.

Trooper Anderson reported Montafia was traveling east on Route 212 and negotiating a right curve, and the woman was driving west when the vehicles collided head-on. Troopers said the vehicles were pulled apart by tow trucks.

Car Wrapped Around Tree

Mrs. Lorraine Steyer, 33, of Route 1, Box 83, Saugerties, was injured at 3:45 p. m. yesterday when her car skidded out of control and crashed head-on into a tree. Trooper Molloy said the car was virtually "wrapped around the tree."

Mrs. Steyer was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance and treated for multiple abrasions and contusions of the knees and chest and lacerations of both knees. She was driving west on Blue Mountain Road about 1.3/10 miles west of Route 32, Town of Saugerties, when the mishap occurred. Trooper R. J. Dempsey investigated.

Eased Up, Returns

The City Engineer's office reported total accumulation of snow in Wednesday's storm was nine inches. The storm eased during the afternoon after 7 inches were recorded, and later snow began to fall again and dumped an additional 2 inches on the city.

The all-time high for one month was recorded in February, 1962, when the accumulation was 35 inches, according to the engineer's office.

Some Drifting Reported

Charles J. Cole, Superintendent of Public Works, reported the full force of snow removal workers with plows were ordered out at 6 p. m. to clear city streets. Some drifting was reported covering the areas that had been plowed with about three inches of snow that became hard packed.

Cole said crews worked through the night, and today they were attempting to scrape the hard pack snow off the pavement and push back piles of snow that accumulated around parked cars. Salting operations will continue through the day, Cole said, and it is expected that the streets will be scraped to bare pavement late this afternoon.

All streets involved in the initial plowing will be gone over again by the plows and scrapers. Cole said a minimum number of complaints were received at his office.

Forecast Somewhat Tardy

A Department of Public Works dispatcher told The Freeman that no official forecast regarding yesterday's snowstorm was received until late in the day. That came from a weather service in Bedford, Mass., and informed local authorities the snow would start in the area "between 7 and 9 a. m. with accumulation 10 to 15 inches. By the time the first forecast reached here more

THE BEGINNING — The Uptown shopping area in Kingston and the rest of the city pelted by a late winter snow storm resulted in a sloppy mess during Wednesday afternoon when some seven inches blanketed this area. Later in

IBM Lists Two Key Promotions

Donald A. MacIsaac, whose flair with both typewriter and pen has earned critical applause and the respect of local and area communities, has been promoted to the position of Community Relations and Information manager of IBM's Systems Manufacturing Plant at Kingston.

He replaces John F. Schuehler, of Apple Hill Road, Hurley, who was appointed to manage Communications at Community Relations at IBM's new plant in Boca Raton, Fla.

Reported Wednesday

The announcements of the changes affecting the two men were made simultaneously by IBM Kingston General Manager George W. Tamke, who congratulated MacIsaac on his promotion, and Howard L. Davidson, general manager of IBM Boca Raton, who will be welcoming Schuehler to his new post.

First announcement of IBM's plans for the new Boca Raton facility appeared in Wednesday's edition of The Freeman.

MacIsaac has become well-known locally through his active participation in community affairs. He is first vice-president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and audiences have responded enthusiastically to the past Kiwanis Kapers which he wrote and directed. His talented direction of the Miss New York State Pageant at Kingston for three years earned him the "Man of the Year" award from the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1962. On the other end of the spectrum, he has been much in demand as a public relations manager in several political campaigns.

In his new position, MacIsaac will be responsible for community relations, news and photographic services, IBM Club and information and guest services at the Kingston plant.

A graduate of Boston University's School of Public Relations, he joined IBM as a writer in the community relations and in-

Hail Liaison Plan, Safety Unit Meets

A special Common Council Committee on Crime can be of "definite assistance" to the police department, it was decided at a Wednesday night meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners and the committee.

New Liaison for City

It was noted that this type of liaison between the police department and the legislative body is new in the city.

Crime is due to be aired again tonight by the newly formed Public Safety Council, which is to meet at the court house at 8 p. m. Officers are to be elected and committees named. The group held its first meeting March 8.

Last night's meeting of the aldermen and police board included a discussion of the curfew ordinance and the effectiveness of recently installed and improved street lights. It was decided to withhold the purpose and outcome of discussions until other meetings are held and reports are made to the Common Council as a whole.

Koenig Represents Mayor

Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig attended last night's meeting in the absence of Mayor Raymond W. Carraghan, who is to return Monday from a short vacation.

The council committee is headed by Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward. Its other members are Majority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, and Robert C. Schantz (R) Second Ward. The police board members are Dr. William B. Dean, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, Henry P. Eighmey and John Napoleon. Police Chief Robert F. Murphy acts as the board's secretary and the city's mayor is president.

Murphy in New York

Chief Murphy, who is to attend a banquet of the Chiefs of Police Association in New York, will not be at the uptown session of the Public Safety Council, but it is expected that other members of the police department will attend.

Alderman Mancuso said he is due to attend a meeting of the council's urban renewal committee tonight, but if he can get away in time he will attend the court house session.

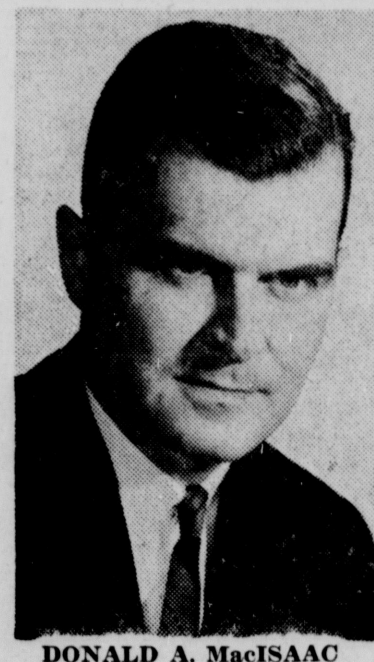

Move Up Date For Supervisors

The special meeting of the Board of Supervisors, called for Thursday, March 23, has been moved ahead to Wednesday, March 22, due to Holy Thursday on which many churches hold special services.

Announcement of the change of date was made today by Supervisors Clarence C. Raichle, (R), 12th ward, chairman of the Tax Base Study Committee, and Charles E. Penny (R), Shawangunk, chairman of the Industrial Development committee.

The special meeting has been called on request of the Joint Committees to discuss preparation of county property tax maps and re-appraisal of all properties in the county under a proposed plan to equalize the tax rate in all sections of the county.

At the February meeting of the Board of Supervisors a plan for an aerial survey of the county and preparation of a property mapping program was presented. At that time it was stated that the cost figure given by the aerial survey company was based on early spring action. At the March meeting it was proposed that a special meeting be called to discuss the matter and determine whether the board would take advantage of the offer which could save the county $100,000 on the cost of putting the plan into effect.

Eye Quit Time On Budget OK

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's drive for a March 30 adjournment gained impetus today after the lawmakers cleared the highest hurdle of the session — Gov. Rockefeller's record budget.

Spending Up $600 Million

A slightly trimmed, $4.5-billion version of the massive spending plan won overwhelming approval Wednesday, despite some grumbling about its size. It will raise state spending by more than $600 million in the fiscal year beginning April 1.

Adoption of the budget automatically broke the annual legislative logjam, since the Senate and Assembly were bound by a law forbidding them to consider any bill bearing an appropriation until the budget is approved.

Such measures as the state lottery plan, the $2.5-billion transportation bond issue proposed by Rockefeller and various revenue bills sought by New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay had been held in abeyance.

Following action on the budget, the Assembly ditched into its thickest calendar of the session and worked late into the evening to dispose of several hundred bills. There also was a flurry of action in the Senate.

Other Developments

Among the developments: — The Assembly unanimously passed three bills designed to provide a direct-primary system in place of the old state convention method of nominating candidates for governor and other statewide offices. One of the measures already had been passed by the Senate and thus will be sent to the governor.

— The Senate forced approval of a Republican-drawn bill that would replace the Condon-Wadlin Law with a more-workable statute seeking to deter strikes by government employees. Democrats have a rival plan, however, and are expected to kill the GOP bill in the Assembly.

— Lindsay made his second pilgrimage to Albany this year in quest of more financial help for the hard-pressed city. He received a friendly reception from Rockefeller and legislative leaders of both parties but departed without any firm promises.

After its arduous working session, the longest of the year, the Assembly recessed until Monday. But the Senate, which recessed earlier in the evening, returned for another "hot at its packed calendar today."

The major bill up for Senate consideration would implement the plan Rockefeller unveiled last week for an $8-billion expansion of electric power facilities in this state. The State Atomic, Space and Development Authority would be authorized to assist public utilities in the massive effort.

Rockefeller's budget, trimmed by about $35 million, won unanimous approval in the Senate and cleared the Assembly, with only a few dissenting votes, after a relatively brief debate.

Fabbie Lauds Guard On 'Alert' Response

A practice test alert which brought over 7,000 National Guardsmen to pre-designated assembly areas in over 44 communities throughout New York State was conducted Wednesday night by the 27th Armored Division, New York Army National Guard.

The initial announcement came at approximately 6 p. m. Within minutes, Guardsmen, following prepared alert plans were making telephone calls to fellow members of their units. Radio and television stations throughout the state also spread the word.

Fifteen minutes after the initial announcement area Guardsmen were arriving at the Kingston and Middletown Armories. Upon arriving at their respective assembly areas the troops drew weapons and equipment from the unit supply rooms and were ready for any assignment given them. By 8 p. m. two hours after the initial call, more than 85 per cent of the 247 area Guardsmen had reported for duty.

Lt. Col. Frank Fabbie, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion 156th Artillery, said the alert was conducted primarily to test the existing Battalion emergency plans designated to assemble units of the Battalion rapidly at their armories in the event of an emergency.

He also said the rapid response and enthusiasm which the Guardsmen displayed in reporting to their assembly areas was excellent, indicating the instant readiness of the National Guard to respond in a local, State or national disaster or other emergency.

Col. Fabbie also commended the New York State employees of the armory for their rapid response in reporting to the armory. "The New York State Guard (Internal Security Battalion) very actively and vigorously participated in this test alert. Particularly outstanding was the response of all concerned in spite of the severe snowstorm that was raging at the time of the alert," he concluded.

Aronica Urges Availability of Classes for All Students Showing Interest in Vocational Arts

Students demonstrating an interest or talent in vocational and technical work should be allowed to follow this interest, Michael M. Aronica, director of Vocational Education, Board of Co-operative Educational Services (BOCES) told a group at a meeting earlier this week at the J. Watson Bailey School.

The session for parent orientation toward high school programs was well attended. Aronica said the program of vocational-technical education is now in operation and an expansion of offerings for next September is planned.

Aronica complimented John O'Leary, vocational guidance counselor and local counselors who he said "are very capable of explaining the courses and making pertinent recommendations."

The director spoke of the philosophy behind what is being done in vocational education. "As usual action is prompted by events—this is called reaction," Aronica said. "Our immediate plan, then is a reaction to something. That 'something' is a compilation of statistics and facts national and local.

"Let's take the national first: A. Of 100 youth in grade one—10 will be lost to the schools before eighth grade.

B. In grades 8-12 an additional 24 will be lost.

C. Of the 66 who graduate from secondary school 46 say they will go on to college. In reality, only 36 do.

D. Now let's examine the 36 who do go to college.

E. What we are really saying is that of the 36 who go on to college, 26 complete the curriculum, or more shockingly 25 out of every 100 starting school will complete a college education. If this sounds acceptable, try two out of every 10. This means that eight out of 10 should have other preparation. This, then, is the tremendous burden facing all of us."

In reviewing "our" position, Aronica called attention to statistics relating to Ulster County. "A survey of educational achievement conducted in 1963 and involving people 25 years of age and over," the director said, "shows:

1. The median number of school years completed is 10.0. Simply, there are as many below 10th grade achievement as there are above.

2. 22.7 per cent have only a high school diploma.

3. Seven and three-tenths per cent have one-three years of college.

4. Six and seven-tenths have finished four years of college.

Aronica noted that previous to his research for the recent meeting, he was deluded into thinking that the two-year colleges appearing in various parts of the state were "going to play a major role in the reduction of the mortality rate on the post high school level. He explained that he had learned that the dropout rate in New York State is more than 50 per cent.

The speaker referred to an article published in the newspapers proclaiming that 58 full-time students in our community college made the dean's list, meaning a B average or better with a few other qualifications. "This is impressive except for the fact that more than 700 students are enrolled full-time," Aronica said.

A further look at the record shows that in June 1965 the first graduating class numbered 47 and last June the number graduated was 67, the director noted. "I want to say that I am not criticizing the college—they are doing the best that they can with the students that they have," Aronica said. "The criticism should be leveled at ourselves because we allow and indeed often encourage so many of our young people to gamble on their future."

"Far too many of us," the speaker continued, "educators and parents, believe that once achieved, a two-year certificate or four-year degree is an end in itself, magic potion, a panacea which brings automatic success to anyone tasting it. I am not minimizing the importance of a college education, but I would be equally wrong if I were to suggest that success comes only with college graduation, and that any gamble is worth it."

Aronica noted there are other reports, recommendations and statistics which are encouraging and which indicate a safe, certain path to success. He said the secondary school represents the last totally organized level of education that the children can put to advantage.

"Are we really taking advantage of that last opportunity?" the director asked his listeners. "I rather doubt it."

He referred to a statement in

Lodge Denies Campaign Role

SAIGON (AP) - Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1960, says he plans to take no part in the 1968 campaign.

"I'm not planning to get in the campaign at all," Lodge told newsmen after President Johnson announced that Ellsworth Bunker would replace Lodge as U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

Asked about reports that he had been approached to advise Gov. George Romney of Michigan on Vietnam policy, Lodge replied: "I do not intend to get involved."

Lodge declined to say when he would return to the United States, saying: "I'll go to Guam (for President Johnson's conference on Vietnam next week), come back here, then I don't know."

Two Vehicles Crash At Katrine Crossing

At about 6 p. m. Wednesday two cars were involved in an accident on Leggs Mills Road at the Lake Katrine Railroad crossing. Deputy Sheriffs John Tuley and James Milesky investigated.

A car operated by James C. Wilson, 62, of Town Road, Mt. Marion, was proceeding west on Leggs Mills Road on a grade near the railroad crossing when it skidded and struck a car operated by Marion A. Brueckner, 39, of Parish Lane, Lake Katrine, which was traveling east on Leggs Mills Road. The accident was due to icy conditions of the road. No injuries were reported.

Dodd Calls Rebuttal Witnesses

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's attorney planned to call a handwriting expert and a liquor store manager today in an attempt to counter testimony from the senator's former office manager about how Dodd's bills were paid.

John F. Sonnett, chief counsel for the Connecticut Democrat, indicated the witnesses before the Senate ethics committee probing Dodd's financial affairs would aim at Wednesday's account from the former Dodd aide, Michael V. O'Hare, a key witness at the hearings.

O'Hare swore he paid bills for Dodd with money orders to cancel that the money came from a testimonial fund.

"The senator didn't want political checks paving off these accounts," O'Hare said with reference to various expenditures including an overdue income tax payment.

Except for Edward B. Lockett, a writer hired by Dodd in 1963 to write a book, O'Hare was the last of the committee's witnesses under present plans of Chief Counsel Benjamin R. Fern.

At today's hearing Lockett was to complete testimony he barely began Wednesday and then Sonnett was to put on the first of his witnesses.

The basic accusation against Dodd is that he converted campaign funds to his own use but he contends that funds raised for him at testimonial events were tax-free gifts he could use as he saw fit.

Liquor Dealer Sonnett told newsmen one of his witnesses would be Alvin Oremland, whom he identified as manager of Schneider's liquor store here. He said another would be one of the country's leading handwriting experts.

As to other witnesses he may call, including Dodd, Sonnett kept his options open. But the senator is expected to be the final witness in his own defense, probably Friday.

Under Sonnett's cross-examination Wednesday, O'Hare identified 16 checks totaling $531.50 made out to Schneider's liquor store. O'Hare testified all the checks bore Dodd's signature and were signed in his presence.

Led Strike On DMZ Area

SAIGON (AP) - The Air Force said today that Capt. Max C. Brestel of Chappell, Neb., led one of five F105 Thunderchief flights which bombed a communist staging and supply area in the demilitarized zone.

Another of the five flights Wednesday was led by Lt. Col. Joseph C. Austin of Newburgh, N.Y.

The raiders were credited with killing 25 enemy soldiers, destroying 11 bicycles loaded with supplies and six supply caches. Two other strikes in the same general area were led by Maj. Edward C. Jones of Rochester, N.Y., and Capt. John L. Smith of Kingsville, Tex.

Special Service Department for Men and Children

Sheriff's Office Issues February Operation Report

During February the Ulster County Sheriff's Department received 175 complaints which were investigated by the criminal department. Of the 175 cases 134 were closed by investigation, there were seven arrests and 34 of the cases remain open.

During the 15,405 miles of county highways patrolled sheriff's department deputies assisted in 59 arrests of motorists and investigated 28 accidents. There were 13 vehicle and traffic arrests.

Deputies executed six criminal warrants and five felony warrants while misdemeanor warrants executed, including Family Court warrants, numbered 10. During February there were two felony and three misdemeanor arrests. Family Court summonses served numbered 33.

Three persons were committed to other institutions. Special details worked a total of 141½ hours and guard and desk duty accounted for 2,409 additional hours of service.

In the Civil Department, Sheriff William B. Martin reports 111 summonses and subpoenas were served, 185 trial and grand jurors were summoned and the office served 22 subpoenas for the district attorney's office. The total income executions for the month was 30 and property executions numbered 23. A total of $2,920 was received from bails and fines and receipts from executions totaled $9,928.43. Fees, which are turned over to the county treasurer, totaled $1,599.34.

Special Services Department reported 57 persons fingerprinted; 63 pistol permits issued; 30 pistols were registered and 100 record checks were made. Receipts from the Special Service Department was $351.

Parking Revenue

Income from the county parking lot for February was $314.63 and 58 summonses were issued for parking violations. Policing the parking lot took 134 man hours.

Once again the crowded jail condition came to the front. At the end of February there were 59 prisoners in custody, 57 males and 2 females. The capacity of the jail is 56 — 42 males and 14 females. As of February 1 there were 53 male prisoners and no females.

During February there were 103 male admissions and 12 female admissions for a total of 115. During the month there were 99 males discharged and 10 females, leaving 57 males and 2 females in custody at the end of the month.

From the jail kitchens 4,906 meals were served during February, of which 55 were served to prisoners in the city lockup. Trustees worked a total of 2,053 man hours during the month which figure at $2 an hour represents a saving of $4,106 to the county.

Britts Employees Buy $618 Bonds

Employees at Britts Department store Wednesday purchased $618.75 in United States Savings bonds, it was announced by Paul J. Sullivan, manager of the store.

The bonds, which were purchased through a payroll withholding plan, represent the first of a series of purchases by Britts employees which are to be made during the store's current savings bond campaign.

Sullivan further said that he was "most pleased and proud of the favorable response given to the new plan." He urges continuing support of the campaign.

Albany Avenue Sisters Find Secret

Recipe for Youth: Laughter, A Hobby, and Lots of Dolls

By RON WILSON
Freeman Staff Writer

Dolls and old ladies do things for each other in an Albany Avenue home.

The dolls keep the ladies young. The ladies make the dolls.

"My birthday's on March 27," said Mrs. Gilda Snyder. "Would you believe I'll be 77?"

Wrinkles of Laughter

(We wouldn't. Like her two sisters, a sparkling eye and a face that wrinkles from laughter's habit give the lie to her age. And her hair manages only to look a very stylish silver.)

She lives with these two sisters—Mrs. Ella Bronstein and Miss Florence Gross—at 460 Albany Avenue, in Mrs. Bronstein's home. An awful lot of dolls have been born in that house, and many live there yet.

"They're why you're surprised at my age," said Mrs. Snyder, referring to the dolls. "When someone has a hobby they find exciting and rewarding, they don't have time to grow old. And I didn't even start till I was 50. Just think if I'd started before."

A 50-50 Deal

So these dolls, they've done their part for the sisters... but have the sisters done as much for the dolls?

Yes... and no one who pushes a typewriter for a living could know just how much as could: Judges at the New York World's Fair. They awarded a Blue Ribbon to Mrs. Snyder in 1964. It reads, in part, "Exhibitor's Award, Doll Collection Museum, New York World's Fair, 1964—Creative Design. An accompanying letter expresses sincere thanks for 'helping us to give pleasure to so many visitors.'"

Or U. S. Ambassador to Denmark, Katherine Elkus White, who has a doll—example of a Danish native—made on special request by Mrs. Snyder.

Or Mrs. Janet Pechter Johl, author of "The Fascinating World

of Dolls," who describes Mrs. Snyder's dolls—the only ones of their kind in the world—in her book.

Or Buffalo University, which asked Mrs. Snyder to teach her unique art to their students. (She declined, she told this reporter, "Because it's just too far from Kingston.")

About Miss Gross' skill, ask the three dozen persons who gave her type of doll—different from her sister's—as Christmas gifts. They would have given more, but she crochets the dresses by hand—and at the age of 72, that takes time.

The Real Experts

Or ask Cathy or Erin Wilson, Miss Gross, through her sister, insisted they each have one of the dolls she had made. And at the ages of 2½ and 1½ respectively, what better experts are there?

But it is her sister's dolls that attract the most interest. They are as much an art form as a doll... so uncommonly unique that she had to give it a name—"needle sculpture"—for the World's Fair exhibit.

She makes them by starting with a square-inch of loosely woven cotton thread, faced with a "crochet round" to lend form. She fills in the features by adding stitches, layer on layer, and as the material gets thicker, she uses a glover's needle to pull the thread through.

'Picture-Perfect' Faces

The features—nose and lips—Mrs. Snyder describes as "flaps" that she forms, then works into a likeness of the person she is recreating. Her skill at this is

Vital Factor

The civet, a small mammal, is a vital factor in the world's perfume industry because of a substance in its body that "fixes" the aroma of essences and attars. Sometimes called musk, this substance is secreted in sacs near the animal's tail and is highly regarded by world perfumers.

almost "picture-perfect" and past faces have included the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mae West and the Duchess of Windsor.

"As a matter of fact, it was a face that started me off," she explained with a chuckle. "I was recovering from surgery in 1940 and, since I always like to work with needle and thread, I was doing so as I listened to one of Hitler's speeches over the radio. When I got finished, without realizing what I was doing, I had made his face. My husband didn't believe I made it. He insisted I'd bought it someplace."

A Family Affair

Artistic skill, incidentally, runs in the Snyder family. Her son and daughter, residents of Red Bank, N. J., are both professional artists. The daughter, Mrs. Frederick Blitzer, won a photography award while a student with a picture of a seven-inch Spanish doll made by her mother.

"I like to make Spanish and Gypsy and Indian dolls," Mrs. Snyder said. "They have interesting faces to work with."

But her work isn't confined to these. She also dreamed up an African doll ("It's a real streamlined savage," she said with a laugh) that is registered with the U. S. Patent Office under the name "Woosie." It was featured in color in McCall's Magazine.

A World of Fans

Through this and through a two-page color spread in the New York Daily News' Sunday magazine several years ago, Mrs. Snyder said she has "gotten over 200 letters from people in this country and 'I don't know how many' from people overseas."

But her biggest fan, very apparently, is her 76-year-old sister, Mrs. Bronstein, with whom she lives.

"All I do is make aprons sometimes for charity," the sister said. "But I think the things they (her two sisters) make is simply marvelous."

Slashing Budget Time-Worn Script At State Capitol

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—This year's cutting of the governor's budget followed what has come to be regarded on State Capitol Hill as a time-worn script.

For more years than most participants care to admit, the Legislature and the governor have indulged themselves in a fiscal charade that might be called "The Economy Act."

Termed 'Tight'

It goes like this:

In late January or early February, the governor submits to the Legislature a record-high spending program and soberly pronounces it a "tight" fiscal document.

Legislative leaders and fiscal experts solemnly agree that the balance between income and necessary spending indeed has been precariously struck, but they vow to give their best efforts to trimming it to the "bare bones."

Public hearings are scheduled, and the same familiar faces for the same vested interests appear to present — alternately — indignant demands for more spending or drastic economies.

The Legislature's fiscal committees then retire behind closed doors to finecomb the spending plan, in a self-proclaimed relentless quest for economies.

Announce Slash

About three weeks later, the committees' fiscal experts come up for air. The job is done, and the committee chairmen announce that they have slashed X million dollars from the budget. The actual cash saving usually ranges between one and two per cent of the total budget.

The governor promptly issues a statement bemoaning the brutal meat-axing of his fiscal brain child. He implores the Legislature to reconsider its impetuous act.

A few weeks later, as the Legislature drives for adjournment, the annual supplemental budget bill is unveiled. The measure is supposed to cover spending items not contemplated when the original budget was drafted early in the session, but — lo and behold — it contains a variety of appropriations that had been stricken from the main budget in the much-heralded economy drive.

With minimal consideration, the Legislature passes the bill, and the session adjourns with everybody reasonably happy.

The most knowledgeable people on Capitol Hill admit somewhat sheepishly that they have been conforming to this script for many a moon — and that they expect to do so again this year.

Pruned $80 Million

Last year, for example, the fiscal committees proudly announced that they had pruned $80 million from Rockefeller's proposed budget of $4 billion. But the supplemental bill restored at least $30 million—and added several other items, including $5,080 new raises for the lawmakers themselves — and Gov. Rockefeller signed it with dispatch.

This year, the state is set for a similar performance.

In announcing economy cuts expected to save between $30 million and $40 million during

Defends Data Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economist Carl Kaysen says the proposed National Data Center can be kept from invading the privacy of individuals if properly designed and administered.

The center would use computers to compare and combine in one place and on a scale now impossible statistics and other data now scattered around in the files of innumerable government agencies. Critics of the idea say the center could be a threat to the people.

But in testimony Tuesday before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Kaysen, director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University, said the center could offer "real improvement in the understanding of our economic and social processes."

He said the risks had been exaggerated and could be held to a minimum by sensible planning.

the new fiscal year, the fiscal committees took pains to point out that certain major cutbacks were made "without prejudice."

This translates to — "Don't worry, governor. If you can convince us, we'll put it back in the supplemental."

Right on Cue

Rockefeller came in right on cue. He denuded the reduction but instructed department and agency heads to resurvey the fiscal wreckage with a view toward pinpointing "the critical and important areas which should be submitted for reconsideration with the legislative leaders in the preparation of the supplemental budget bill."

This translates to — "O.K., fellas, won't get upset if I get most of this back in the supplemental."

The most cynical observers at the Capitol already have begun to take up a betting pool on the exact amount that will be restored from the economy cut. Take a number from one to 40 million, and you're in the game.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 16, 1967

RED CROSS MONTH

This is Red Cross Month locally as well as throughout the nation. We are reminded that the Red Cross is an organization formed to help people, and that it cannot exist unless it in turn gets help from the people.

The Red Cross lives solely upon its contributions from the public. Ulster County Chapter is fortunate in having obtained a large part of their necessary fund from the Ulster County Community Chest Drive last fall but must still look to the remainder of Ulster County to receive sufficient funds to meet all costs. The 1967 drive began March 1 with a goal of $7,745 this year.

Every day, sometimes many times a day, some one turns to the Red Cross here for help. It may be a mother, anxious about her son in Vietnam or needing to reach him immediately because of a family emergency, or it may be someone else who has a problem only Red Cross can solve.

In times of emergency, Red Cross is indispensable. It is the strong right arm of our local government in times of disaster. It is an essential aid to the U. S. Department of Defense in times of war, and it has been rendering yeoman service to our troops in Vietnam, providing them with emergency welfare services and recreation as well.

Red Cross is deserving of our moral, personal and financial support at all times.

$75-A-PATIENT DAY

By September, hospital expenses would reach $57.93 a day, increasing at the rate of 18.6 per cent a year. Increases at about the same rate are in sight for the next three to five years, at least, pointing to about $75 a patient day.

This forecast was made by spokesmen for the American Hospital Association, in a conference with Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee. They led him to announce that Congress will have to find more revenue to keep the Medicare program in the black.

The Medicare tax was fixed at one-half of one per cent on employees and a like amount on their employers, applied to the first $6,600 each person earns. It is scheduled to go up by degrees to eight-tenths of one per cent.

Three factors contribute to the sharp rise in hospital costs—wage and salary increases to low-paid personnel because of Federal minimum wage legislation, competition for nurses raising their salaries to new heights, and the increasing complexity of medical care resulting in more being done for the patient.

Medicare is being paid for by men and women still working, while its benefits are largely dispensed to those who have long since retired. It is not a matter of actuarial earning, but a matter of federal policy. For that reason, the cost should be assessed against the general tax, not the special Medicare levy which taxes those who will not benefit for 10, 20, 30 or 40 years.

There is nothing fair in the Medicare tax as it is now levied. The sooner it is accepted as a claim on general revenues, the sooner will its real cost become appreciated by the taxpayers who have the power of the ballot to demand corrections or adjustments.

The Indiana State Senate passed a resolution urging that the House be abolished. It was not a policy move to create a unicameral legislature, but to eliminate a nuisance. For the Senate is controlled by Democrats and the House by Republicans and seldom the twain have a meeting of minds.

Liu Shin-kung finished second to Van Cliburn in the 1958 Tchaikovsky piano competition in Moscow. He became well known to Soviet music lovers. That made him a target for Chinese Red Guards, who broke both his wrists. That is like murdering a pianist.

Announcement that District Attorney Arlen Specter, 37, will run for mayor of Philadelphia as a Republican, continues the GOP's drive to run young, attractive personalities whenever possible. Specter has made a spectacular record as a prosecutor and will make a spectacular candidate.

THE HYBRID ELECTRIC CAR WILL SAVE US FROM SMOG

DETROIT, Mich. — The scare stories about smog grow scarier. First it was the Los Angeles area of California where local air current conditions make a special hazard of the combustion by-products of automobile gasoline. More recently the atmosphere of the long "linear" metropolitan area that reaches from Boston, Mass., to Washington, D. C., has become a worry.

At the local Detroit press club annual shindig known as the "steak-out," held last week in lively imitation of the Washington, D. C., Gridiron Club, they figured one way of getting rid of the lethal fumes caused by car exhausts. They had Senator Muskie of Maine as national custodian of pure air, piping the fumes back into the car itself. The car drivers didn't complain, unless it was to St. Peter.

Since Detroit is held responsible for a good part of the $11-billion-a-year costs in wasted fuel and smog-induced property damage, members of the California Legislature, among other people, expect Detroit to do something about the problem. Laws are passed to compel the elimination of noxious fumes in tailpipes by magic filters or catalytic converters. A well-known professor of biostatistics, Dr. Theodore D. Sterling, says the laws won't work: the processes are inconvenient, expensive, and can't be adequately policed.

But if the law fails to solve the problems caused by automobile exhaust, maybe the workings of good old free enterprise can. For a short time at the beginning of the century it looked as if the automobile would be a clean and pure little electric runabout, putting these dirty hoves off the metropolitan streets and making our cities a dream to live in. The great Thomas Edison was on the track of an effective long-life electric battery. Meanwhile the internal combustion engine, which burned gasoline, was having a tremendous problem with the phenomenon known as "knock." The crude oil in the gasoline fraction made a most unpleasant metallic noise and kept miles-per-gallon low. The knock got worse as the compression in the engine was boosted, until it became positively destructive in its violence.

As Detroit automotive historians know, the problem of knock was solved by the great Charles Kettering and his Man Friday, Thomas Midgley, Jr. They tried putting everything in the gasoline from iodine to tellurium, which smelled like garlic. Finally, they hit upon tetraethyl lead. This happened to work, and thereafter the internal combustion engine led Edison's electric storage battery at the post.

But now a strange reversal of history may be in the offing. The anti-knock in gasoline is one cause of the deleterious contents of the automobile tailpipe. Dr. Sterling speaks of "a gas called lead-chlorobromide," a by-product of burned tetraethyl lead, that is "highly toxic." Because of what the internal combustion engine is doing to the American air, Edison's idea of an electric automobile is having a revival.

Among its partisans is President Arjay Miller of the Ford Motor Company. Mr. Miller says he confidently expects to see a good electric car on the market in a few years. A lead acid battery capable of running a car forty miles an hour for thirty-five miles is a practicality. Within ten or fifteen years we shall probably have a battery good for 150 miles without recharging.

This would be good only for city driving. But it is in the cities that smog is the problem. People might balk at having to maintain an electric car for city use and a second gasoline-driven car for ski week-ends to Vermont or the Sierras, or merely for commuting to the city line. But Arjay Miller already has the answer to this problem. He foresees a good hybrid automobile, able to run on a long-lived electric battery in the city, where high speeds cut down on the smog-causing fumes.

Moreover, as Mr. Miller looks ahead, he sees the gasoline companies responding to electric battery competition by evolving methods of producing a smogless fuel. Boss Kettering's magic will work in reverse. Los Angeles and the Boston-Washington "linear" city will once again be able to breathe without choking to death.

"Competition works," says Arjay Miller. As one who distrusts the wonder-working capacities of the law, this reporter can hardly wait.

Abdominal Stress Not Necessarily Gallstones

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is chronic cholecystitis and cholelithiasis? What are the symptoms and what is the usual treatment?

A—Cholecystitis is an inflammation of the gall bladder and cholelithiasis refers to gallstones. A person with chronic cholecystitis usually has a nagging pain in the pit of the stomach, a low fever and intermittent jaundice. Gallstones cause no symptoms unless they get stuck in the bile duct where they produce severe colicky pains.

In the absence of gallstone colic the treatment consists of antispasmodics, antacids and mild sedatives if insomnia is a problem. If you are having attacks of gallstone colic your gall bladder should be removed by the diagnosis must be carefully made because many a gall bladder has been removed and later found not to have been the cause of the patient's abdominal distress.

Q—My doctor says I have functional Biliary Dyskinesia. How is this diagnosis made and what is the treatment?

A—The disorder is biliary dyskinesia. A functional disease (opposite of organic) is one that is not caused by any structural change in an organ. Its cause may be purely emotional or chemical. Biliary dyskinesia is an impairment of the emptying and filling of the gall bladder which is often accompanied by painful spasms. The diagnosis is made by X-ray studies made after the stones or organic defects in the gall bladder but reveal its failure to empty after a fatty meal.

Many victims are improved following the assurance that there is no cancer or other serious disease requiring an operation. They must avoid opiates in all forms and eliminate alcohol and fats from their diet. A short course of sedatives and antispasmodics may also help.

Q—I have had several attacks of gall bladder inflammation for which antibiotics give prompt relief. Is there any treatment that will prevent these recurrences?

A—This sequence of events is often observed when treatment with antibiotics is discontinued as soon as the acute phase is under control. For your next bout of this disease try taking the antibiotic for 100 days after you are apparently cured.

Q—What does a gall bladder diet consist of?

A—The usual gall bladder diet should contain adequate protein, very little fat and a large amount of carbohydrate.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

"Where There's Smoke There's Fire—or Is There?"

Washington News

By Bruce Bissot
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If Michigan's Gov. George Romney could win perhaps five contested, binding primaries, he might enter the 1968 Republican convention with roughly 600 of the 667 delegate votes needed to gain the presidential nomination.

The "if" is, of course, very large, but it is the big presumption which underlies the Romney candidacy. Any sizable failure in primary tests would obviously doom him. Success on the indicated scale would likely provide him with nearly irresistible momentum.

Despite that prospect, his present chief rival, Richard Nixon, could himself enter the convention with upwards of 500 votes and make a hard fight to the end—provided his delegate supporters exhibited staying power against a Romney tide in the primaries.

Other presumptions are laced into this early estimate. It is hazardous here that the only durable favorite-son holdouts at convention eve would be California's Gov. Ronald Reagan (86 votes), Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio (58) and Sen. John Tower of Texas (56).

It is figured that any other favorite sons would by then have crumpled under the fearful pressures either to get with the front-runner or try to block him openly siding with his main rival.

Those pressures would take much of their force from the hard fact of primary results sprinkled along the nomination route from March to June. Today's common talk of a large number of favorite sons locking up 500 or more delegates right into the convention seems gravely unrealistic, born of the precampaign vacuum.

In very considerable measure, too, it is a Nixon stratagem. Much of the favorite-son talk comes from pro-Nixon GOP figures who, acting clearly in close concert with him, wish to conceal at this stage how much of his probable delegate strength would come from the Goldwater-oriented Old South.

Preliminary calculations suggest, in fact, that the South and some border territory might provide Nixon with more than three-fifths of an estimated 500-delegate votes which he could bring into the convention if Romney failed to crack him along the way. A late throw-in from Tower's Texas would raise the proportion still higher.

All these early judgments are founded on checks with leaders in many states over the past two months.

Among such key primary states as New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Oregon and possibly New Mexico and Washington (if pending primary bills are enacted) Romney must score well. It will not be enough simply to stay high in the public opinion polls.

The benefit of winning would be more psychological than numerical. Even if he should win five the delegate gain would not exceed 100 by very much. If favorite-son California and Ohio be set aside, the remaining eight binding primaries can lock up less than 200 delegates Washington and New Mexico could add another 38.

A really impressive string of Romney victories might break the 1968 race open and even lead sizable elements of the Reagan-Rhodes delegations into his camp.

Any serious faltering by the Michigan governor might find moderates switching strength as they could to Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois. But Nixon might be the crucial beneficiary, if he has meantime undertaken Romney in important primary tests.

Nixon, however, faces potential danger from another side. If, as is presently indicated, Reagan allows his name to go on the ballot in all-candidate primaries such as Oregon, Nebraska and Massachusetts, he might either outdo or seriously undercut Nixon with conservative voters—and contribute critically to his defeat.

At some stage, conservatives might try to shift massive allegiance to Reagan. But, as with the moderates and a possible move to Percy as a substitute tiger, such an effort might come too late and be too ineffective to block a charging Romney.

Reforms Are Long Way Off, More 'Dodd' Cases Expected

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The whole question of what is unlawful or unethical in the contribution of money to the campaign of a person seeking federal office is not set forth clearly in the laws of the land. Nor are violations of such laws always prosecuted when they should be.

There are lots of things wrong with the present system. First of all, the Department of Justice is a political arm of the administration in power, and often in the past has undertaken prosecutions only when public opinion has forced the issue. The prosecution of federal offenses should be delegated to an agency of government independent of the president or the cabinet and responsible only to Congress for its reports of action taken, as is the case with the comptroller general's office.

It isn't unlawful today, but is it ethical for a member of Congress to receive for a speech a fee from organizations which are deeply interested in legislation that could affect them in a material way? Sometimes such compensation runs up to 1,000 dollars an address.

Also, is it ethical for a Chief Executive to be the drawing card at a luncheon or dinner when business firms—many of which have large contracts with the federal government—pay as much as 1,000 dollars per ticket for admission to such meetings?

Corporations and labor organizations are, of course, forbidden to make campaign contributions to candidates for federal offices, but they can give as much as they like to state, county or city campaign funds. And who can separate the money when it is spent to build an organization that works for a straight ticket of all the nominees of a party and thus benefits also the candidates for federal office?

The case of Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, Democrat, appears on its face to be unusual, but it bears a resemblance to many other situations in which elected officials sometimes find themselves. They pay out their own funds for campaign expenses and later get gifts or contributions which enable them to meet personal expenses that were not paid previously because campaign necessities came first.

Conceding that few, if any, of the donors expected rewards in the form of help in getting an appointment or some other favor, doesn't the present system seem to put the official under obligation? Presidents, too, like senators and members of the House—have received contributions with no strings attached and with no understanding as to a reward. But when a large donor seeks an appointment as an ambassador, for instance, doesn't he expect the President or others in the party who have influence with the Chief Executive to remember the financial benefactors of campaign days? The record shows that under almost every administration a few of the ambassadors appointed had made substantial contributions to political campaign funds.

As for the case of Senator Dodd, it may be doubted whether he himself deliberately violated any law. The question of whether he put himself under obligation to various donors is in the domain of ethics. The Senate and House have been confronted with this kind of problem before but have never dealt with it satisfactorily. One reason is that campaigns are expensive, and many candidates are at a disadvantage when they happen to be running against millionaires.

One solution suggested is for Congress to appropriate public money for political campaigns, but proposals thus far are by no means comprehensive. Not only is it desirable to provide money for candidates for federal office, but states, counties and cities would have to furnish funds for local candidates as well. If this were done, it would then be necessary to prohibit anybody else from contributing—whether the candidate wishes to spend sums out of his own pocket or the money his friends give him through testimonial dinners.

Reforms of this kind seem a long way off, and that's why cases like those of Senator Dodd will crop up again and again. Indeed, Congress would find many similar situations if it ventured to examine the private finances of all members when elected. Men of integrity, however, who have the courage to turn down a campaign contributor with a doubtful motivation may seem rare, but there are a good many such persons in public office today. So the outlook is not as grim as it may appear to be.

We wish to express our sincere and deepest gratitude to all the members of the Benedictine Hospital Staff for all their kindness and cooperation given to the family of the late Mr. Tyler C. Hughes, Sr.

We appreciate to the fullest, the consideration given by the nursing staff for permitting us to remain at his side both day and night, and by carrying out to the best of your ability every request made by the family.

Also to the Sisters of the Benedictine who, though being of a different religion, gave us great religious comfort. At times, when things seemed to fail, your prayers and comfort gave us the strength we needed to build up our hopes again.

Father MacIntyre's condolences greatly inspired the hearts of the family.

Again we wish to thank everyone who helped so greatly in this time of need.

Sincerely,
MRS. TYLER C. HUGHES SR. and FAMILY

Editor, The Freeman:

Recently, an individual whose name identically resembles mine wrote a letter in this column.

Please note we are distinct and unrelated persons. I am now writing a Masters thesis in Political Science at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. and am not at work in my home area.

May I also say that, while honest and honorable opinions are respectable, the views of the other gentleman are not my own. I believe, with the author of the Declaration of Independence, that men are "endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights" and that any doctrine which denies us our God-given rights is incompatible with democratic thought from Socrates through our Founding Fathers to this present age. To use a current colloquialism, any denial of the spiritual worth of the individual is "out of it."

Thank you.
Cordially and sincerely,
JOHN MICHAEL SNYDER

Medical Society Downs Forced Health Insurance

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The State Medical Society has joined forces with business and labor in opposing a compulsory health insurance program advanced by Gov. Rockefeller.

The society's stand was outlined Wednesday here at the final of four public hearings held on the proposal by the Joint Legislative Committee on the Problems of Public Health and Medicare.

"After careful analysis and evaluation of all provisions of the bill, the Medical Society of the State of New York cannot approve the proposed law in its present form," Dr. Edward C. Hughes told the committee members.

Hughes is president-elect of the 26,000-member organization. He said the society's executive committee "strongly recommended that additional and intensive study be given to the aspects of this important problem."

As proposed by the governor, all employers in the state with more than two workers on the payroll would have to contract with private insurance plans to provide a prescribed minimum of health and hospital benefits. Under terms of Rockefeller's plan, the premium costs would be split between the employee and the employer.

The executive secretary of the Greater Syracuse Labor Council also spoke against the proposal but his objection was based on another tack. Nicholas Farrante told committee members the governor's proposal was too restrictive.

Representatives of the Greater Syracuse Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers Association of Syracuse also voiced opposition to the plan.

Dear Abby . . .

Future Husband Acting Childish

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a girl who will graduate from college in June. I am a professional man. When she went home for Christmas vacation she had herself fitted for contact lenses. Abby I LIKED her in glasses (I wear them, too) and I have never told her that I would like her better in contact lenses. I didn't even know she was interested in them.

For whom is she preening? Whom else, besides me does she have to please? Why this sudden vanity? To top it off, her lenses have a violet hue, a la Elizabeth Taylor, and the girl I love has hazel eyes. Should I put her to the test and ask her to choose between me and the contacts?

ONLY HER FIANCE

DEAR ONLY: Perhaps she's pleasing only herself, which is her privilege. You should be familiar enough with the girl you're about to marry to tell her you like her better in spectacles than in contacts. Having said it, drop it. If you insist on making this a matter of "choice" the lady needs neither glasses nor contacts to see the handwriting on the wall.

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago my boyfriend asked me to marry him. I turned him down for reasons I won't go into here.

Well, lots has happened since then, and now I would like very much to marry him, but he hasn't asked me lately.

Is it ever all right for a girl to do the asking? What I mean is, how can I get him to ask to marry me again without coming right out and asking him?

READY NOW

DEAR READY: You might have to come right out and ask him. And if you want to marry him, and he hasn't asked you "lately," that might not be such a bad idea.

DEAR ABBY: We are eight retired housewives (rather our husbands are retired — wives never do) and we have a common problem. We live in Clearwater, Florida, and have all received cards and letters from friends up north who write, "We plan to drop in for a visit this winter."

Nothing is said about WHEN they will drop in, or for how long. This is disturbing because since we have no idea when to expect them, or for how long, we can't make any plans of our own, or even accommodate others who have planned to visit us.

Please print this with your comment for the benefit of others who are similarly vexed.

CLEARWATER, FLA.

DEAR CLEARWATER: Unless you are running a resort and booking reservations, you should be ASKED if it is convenient to receive guests at a specific time for a specific number of days. Those who would descend on you with the kind of "notice you describe should be given directions to the nearest motel."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAD IT" IN HILLSBOROUGH: Why do you feel that you must tell your neighbor in a "nice" way to keep her dogs off your property? Tell her in a respectful, but firm way that when she "walks" her dogs, to please keep walking until they are beyond your costly lawn and shrubbery. And let her know that if your plea is ignored, your next call will be the police department.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Adam Choice Of Demos

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic leaders in Harlem's 18th Congressional District have unanimously nominated Adam Clayton Powell to run again for his vacated seat in the House of Representatives.

The action came Wednesday night at a meeting in the basement of Powell's Abyssinian Baptist Church. He will face the Republican candidate, Mrs. Lucille Pickett Williams, in a special election on April 11.

Powell's name was placed in nomination by Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton and seconded by a former president of the borough, Hulan E. Jack. No other names were proposed.

Loses Hives, Gains Mate

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Loretta Toifa lost her hives and gained a husband and all because of a Valentine her fifth-grade pupils sent to the commanding general of Fort Dix, N.J.

Miss Toifa now is married to Pvt. Donald W. Smith, and according to a spokesman for the fifth-graders at Maywood School in nearby Colonie, their teacher's worried look and hives are gone.

Earlier this year, however, things were pretty rough for the 24-year-old teacher and apparently the youngsters sensed it. Just before Valentine's Day they acted.

Could Lead to End

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of 142,000 public employees in New York State have made a move that could lead to an end to their 20-year-old no-strike pledge.

The action was taken by the salary committee of the Civil Service Employees Association, which represents workers for the state and local governments.

Jaycees Seek Names for '67 Citizen Award

The Saugerties Jaycees are seeking nominations for the Outstanding Citizen of the Year award. This award will be given to the person in Saugerties picked by the judges as having done the most for the community in the past year.

Previous winners were: Vernon (Joe) Benjamin, Peter Pocalyko, Donald Fellows, Nat Aaron, Edward Flanagan, and the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff. In 1964 a special award was given to the Man of the Century, Captain Roger H. Donlon.

The winner for 1966 will receive a plaque at a dinner in his honor at the Flamingo Restaurant April 19. The dinner is open to the public and tickets will be available.

Nomination forms may be obtained at both branches of the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co., Lezette-Lachmann Insurance Agency, P. C. Smith's Hardware Store, Michael's Barber Shop, and the Blue Ribbon Cleaners.

Information may be obtained from Maurice Hinchey Jr.

Local Dem Club To Hear P. Grad

Peter P. Grad, president of the Woodstock Democratic Club and campaign manager of several political elections in that Township, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Saugerties Democratic Club next Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant. He will speak on "Democratic Campaigns—How to Be Effective," and is expected to comment on political effectiveness, registration drives, etc.

Grad is a graduate of Pratt, Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and New Bedford Institute of Technology. He presently serves as Chief Chemical Engineer at Rotron Manufacturing Company, of Woodstock and Saugerties. He has authored numerous scientific papers and patents and is a Phi Lambda Upsilon.

Highly active in civic affairs over the years, he has served on the Board of Trustees of New Bedford Institute of Technology, Mass., was co-founder and trustee of Southeastern Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and was co-founder of the Greater New Bedford Young Democrats. He has been active in many political campaigns for Democratic candidates in Massachusetts and New York State. In addition to being president of the Woodstock Democratic Club, he is also a Democratic Committeeman in that town.

Put Off Egg Hunt to April 1

The Saugerties Jaycees have rescheduled their annual Easter egg hunt to 11 a. m. Saturday, April 1, at Cantine Field in Saugerties.

The hunt will be open to all children from 2 to 12 years of age. Prizes will be awarded. The postponement was due to the condition of Cantine Field as a result of the last snow. And, it might be added, Wednesday's blanket didn't help matters.

Monday Club Hears Program for Year

Saugerties Monday Club met at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Cahill. Mrs. Dorrance Baker, president, presided.

Mrs. George Sauretz, program chairman, read the program for the 1967-68 years.

Mrs. Milton Armstrong will be in charge of the Ulster County luncheon at Gov. Clinton Hotel March 29.

Guest speaker for the recent program was Mrs. Richard Overbagh. Slides were shown about a cruise to the South Pacific.

Gardens Society Sees Travelogue

Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held its meeting at Saugerties Methodist Church last week with Mrs. William Waldele presiding. A poem was read in memory of Mrs. Ralph Hayes, late member.

Arthur Roy of New York Telephone Company presented a travelogue on the Historic Hudson River.

Mrs. Gordon Keeley reported on the prize-winning Northway, Route 87, and Mrs. Charles Schumacher spoke on Tree Pruning at this time, feeding birds and checking garden tools. Mrs. Donald Becker gave a report on turtles native to the Hudson River.

Hostesses at the tea table were Mrs. John Whitenor, Mrs. Frank White and Mrs. Robert Finger.

The next meeting will be held at Saugerties Savings Bank on Mar. 22. Roger Decker will present a program of "Why Trees" To Plant and Preserve.

Readings Reported In School Assembly

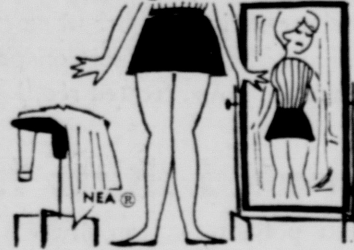

Michael's Mistake was the title of a choral reading presented by the third grade class of Miss Monica Norton at a Grant D. Morse assembly program.

The announcer was Mildred Evans. Michael Francis Patrick O'Toole was played by Timothy Van Hoesen. The first leprechaun was Peter Meggison and the other leprechauns were George Markunas, Alfred Sylvester, John Renner, Thomas Kaiser, and Harold Joers.

The Wind by Robert Louis Stevenson was read by Gretchen Moore. Meeting the Easter Bunny by Rowena Basten Bennett was read by Jeanette Hocking. The Elf Singing by William Alingham was read by Elizabeth Reimiller, and I Met a Little Elf Man by John Kendrick Bangs was read by Kathy Boyer.

The whole class took part in the singing of March of the Leprechauns accompanied by Mrs. Mary Maynard, vocal music teacher.

New Ploy Aims To Defer Draft For Guess Who

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Come April 11, it will be Pvt. Cassius Clay, U.S. Army — maybe.

The heavyweight champion, turned down by a presidential appeals board in his efforts to remain a civilian, has been ordered to report for induction on that date.

Clay's attorneys had anticilated the decision, however, and before the induction order was made public, they had begun a new legal action.

They filed suit in U.S. District Court alleging racial discrimination by Local Board 47, Clay's Louisville draft board, and by all other Kentucky draft boards because of a racial imbalance in their makeup.

Judge James F. Gordon set March 29 for hearing arguments on whether to name a three-judge panel to hear the suit, but he refused to issue a temporary restraining order barring Clay's induction. The suit asks for a permanent injunction.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of the local board, said he had received word Tuesday that the appeals board had turned down Clay's request for deferment as a Black Muslim minister. He said the induction notice had gone out the same day.

But Clay apparently didn't know about it until reporters told him. He is in New York training for his March 22 title defense against Zora Folley.

"If what you say is true, this is gonna be my last fight," he said. "All those people who want to see the greatest heavyweight who ever lived better come to see me now."

The usually loquacious fighter visibly shaken, added, "I don't want to say any more. I don't want to talk to nobody. I'm gonna go see a movie and think about things."

Sherman denied that there is any racial discrimination by his board. He noted that one member, Robert Terry Downs, is a Negro. Downs' wife said he recently was appointed to the local board.

2 Upstaters Killed in Viet Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Western New York soldiers suffered fatal wounds in Vietnam hostilities, their parents said Wednesday night.

Killed were Spec. 4 Norman B. Mayer, 20, of Youngstown, north of Niagara Falls, and Pfc. Joel A. Brown, 21, of the Town of Hamburg, just south of Buffalo.

Mayer, who had been in Vietnam since last July, was killed by an exploding land mine while on a maneuver in the Pleiku area. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mayer, his parents, said. Mayer joined the Army on Sept. 11, 1965.

Brown was wounded fatally last Friday by a shell fragment in a combat operation north of Saigon. Mrs. Isabelle Bahorsky, his mother, said. He was drafted last April 26 and was shipped overseas the following October. Besides his mother, Brown is survived by two older brothers and a stepfather.

Mayer's survivors include his parents, a brother and a sister. The Mayers live on Balmer Road. Mrs. Bahorsky's address is 64 Kennison Parkway.

Note Travel In Europe On Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Tourists planning summer trips to Europe under the new lower air fares are boosting business for travel agents and airlines.

Two million Americans are expected to travel to Europe this year, up from 1.6 million in 1966.

"We're completely booked until September," said Henry P. Huff, executive vice president of Trans International Airlines, an Oakland, Calif., supplemented carrier.

Trans International has scheduled more than 200 charter flights to Europe from San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, St. Louis, Columbus, New York, Boston and other cities this summer, Huff said. Business is up 25 per cent over 1966.

British Overseas Airways Corp. said its New York reservations department has been swamped with calls. BOAC is offering 30 itineraries with room for 25,000 to 30,000 travellers.

Trans World Airlines reports advance bookings for June are up 5.5 per cent from 1966. It is offering more than 250 tours.

American Express reports its European tour bookings are up 25 to 30 per cent over last year and attributes about half the increase to the lower fares.

"Mostly they are people who wouldn't have gone before," said an American Express spokesman. "But now the word is out—if you plan to spend $600 or $700 on a vacation, you can go to Europe just as well."

Climbers Elect New President

William Hentschel of Upper Montclair, N. J., has been elected president of the Catskill 3500 Club.

Other officers named at the annual meeting in Kingston were Clarence E. Beeher, Jr., Red Hook, first vice president; Rudolph Strobel, Pittsfield, Mass., second vice president; Rev. Ray Donahue, Downsville, secretary; and Mrs. William Leavitt, Hudson, treasurer.

The requisite for membership in the club is that one must have climbed the 34 peaks in the Catskills over 3500 feet. In addition, one must have climbed a designated four peaks in winter with snow conditions prevailing. Further information and the hiking schedule may be obtained by writing to the secretary, Father Ray Donahue, Downsville, N. Y.

Harry K. Eldridge of Lake Placid spoke on winter mountaineering and showed slides of Alaska. Another guest, Edward G. West of the Conservation Department spoke of recent land acquisitions in the Catskills by the department.

The club was organized in 1962 to provide hikers with the incentive to climb the lesser known peaks in the Catskills and to broaden their knowledge of the region.

The executive committee recommends that hikers must work actively to preserve the trailless condition of the wilderness high peaks. The action was taken because some of the trailless peaks are now being defaced with litter, rock carving and paint blazes.

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright Moss Hart, who died in 1961, left an estate of $1.4 million, court papers showed Tuesday. His wife, actress Kitty Carlisle, received the bulk of the estate.

Storm Gives Cornell Station A Brief Respite

Cornell Fire Station came to life temporarily Wednesday because of what firemen termed "storm conditions."

A spokesman for the fire department said Fire Chief James M. Brett ordered the brief intermission at 11:58 p. m., and rescinded that order at 8 a. m. today. "Several members of the off-duty fire crew" were called back to man the station, the spokesman said.

The fire station, subject of a city-wide controversy during recent weeks, has been closed because of what the fire chief describes as a shortage of manpower. The Common Council, when informed of the forced closing, had given approval to hire additional firemen to correct the situation.

However, ads placed with The Freeman and other media failed to produce the number of firemen deemed necessary by the Kingston department.

Lagatt Named To State Mental Hygiene Post

ALBANY — John L. Lagatt, who has been personnel director for the New York State Thruway Authority for nearly 13 years, has been appointed director of personnel for the State Department of Mental Hygiene, effective March 16.

The appointment was made by Dr. Alan D. Miller, State Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, who said that Lagatt's extensive experience in the field of personnel management will be invaluable in overseeing operations of the department's Bureau of Personnel Administration.

In his new post, Lagatt will be in charge of personnel matters for the department's nearly 50,000 employees, supervising such programs as recruitment, placement, employee relations, classification, compensation and personnel development and utilization. Recruitment is of particular importance, in view of the many vacancies in the department at present — on both professional and non-professional levels, a nationwide shortage of personnel in the mental health field and increasing demands for services and facilities for the mentally retarded.

Not Housewife's Fault, Every Home Has Dust

By Allergy Foundation of America

If the doctor tells you that you have a case of "allergic rhinitis," don't faint.

It means inflation of the nasal passages due to allergic causes. In other words, a constant stuffed-up nose.

This is one of the common allergies. House dust is to blame.

It isn't that the wife can't qualify as a good housekeeper. Using the entire arsenal of modern cleaning devices, with all the time in the world, she couldn't rid the house of all its dust. . . .

It takes a lab's ingenuity to design a dust-free ROOM.

A crazy mixture of who-knows-what goes into dust. One recipe, if you were making it up, would include:

Carpet fibers, cement crumbs from the basement, furniture upholstery particles, tiny molecules of plaster, insulation, paint, wallpaper, cigaret smoke, cooking fumes, fireplace ashes, kitchen spices and cosmetics. Add dog or cat dander, lint from blankets, sheets, clothing and toys. Add a pinch of dirt brought in by shoes, some mold and bacteria and you've got it.

These are only some of the supposedly harmless things we come into contact with. The whole potpourri is stirred up and distributed to every corner of the most carefully kept homes by our heating systems, some of which could not have been more efficiently designed to do this job.

Then too, there's a lowering of humidity when the house is closed, itself a prominent name in the allergy detective's suspect book.

Rhinitis is one of the milder reactions to house dust. Dust can be considered a factor in any respiratory difficulty until ruled out.

In the chronic cases of asthma and other more serious forms, the doctor would direct drastic measures to make the home as dust-free as possible, going as far as to encase blankets in allergy-proof covers or stripping the walls of all pictures and other decorations.

There's an easier way to fight back at those things that seem to hate you personally.

"The best treatment for a patient allergic to sensitizing agents in the home is a medical treatment," says the handbook, "Allergy," just published by the Allergy Foundation of America. "That means skin tests to find what the agent (allergen) or agents are, then comes desensitization, small doses of the allergen until the body can fight off attacks of the allergen when it encounters it."

What is described is the basic medical treatment for controlling most allergies and the best hope in outwitting them.

(NEXT: Oops, it's Poison Ivy.)

A cough that won't go away can be an allergy tipoff. The Allergy Foundation of America gives the very latest detailed information in its new 96-page book. Dredge Salem Harbor

SALEM, Mass. (AP) — Salem harbor, a privateering and merchant port in the early 1800s that brought fortunes to New England sea captains, will be reclaimed from mud as part of the Salem maritime national historic site.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has called for bids for a dredging operation and the national park service, plans a warehouse for examples from carcozes of that time.

John Hancock served as president of the Continental Congress from 1775 to 1777.

C. David Looks Among Experts On Seminar Panel

John Flemings, chairman of the Sixth Annual Institute of Mid-Hudson Chapter, National Association for Social Workers, said Community Responsibility for Social Planning will be a highlight of several discussion panels at the institute.

The affair will be held March 30 at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie. C. David Looks, Poughkeepsie, president of the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress and one of 20 special advisors to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Renewal, will conduct the discussion.

Other panelists will be Vincent Beniamini, executive director of the Dutchess County Community Chest; Ronald L. Mimms, chairman on Labor and Industry for the Northern Dutchess Chapter, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP); Julio Vivas, executive director of the Action Council for the Poughkeepsie Area; and Mrs. Hilda Boehmer, director of social services for the New York State Experimental Pre-Kindergarten Program in the Poughkeepsie School District.

Over 700 professional and community leaders are expected to attend the conference from Ulster, Albany, Columbia, Putnam, Sullivan, Greene, Rockland, Orange, Westchester and Dutchess Counties—the chapter's area—as well as from New York City.

Others interested are urged to register in advance by contacting Lewis Woodham, Tillson RD 1, Box 81.

Bomb Shelters

Home bomb shelters are required by law in Sweden, Denmark and Norway. Some of the larger public shelters built in solid rock can house as many as 20,000 persons, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Key figures in President Johnson's party for the Vietnam strategy conference on Guam with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and U.S. military commander Gen. William C. Westmoreland are Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and Walt W. Rostow, chief presidential assistant on national security affairs. The meeting is the President's third Pacific journey in little over a year. In February 1966 he met with South Vietnamese Premier Ky in Honolulu. Last October's summit conference in Manila brought him together with heads of all six allies involved in the Vietnamese struggle. Guam, an American Pacific bastion since the Spanish-American war, is the home base of B-52 bombers that have been the heavyweight mainstays of the air war against North Vietnam.

Phoenicia Man Is Recent SP Graduate

New York State Police Trooper Henry H. Hommes, 24, of Herdman Road, Phoenicia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hommes and married to the former Joyce M. Bresadola, was one of the 94 troopers graduated from the latest class of the State Police—known as the "50th Anniversary Class."

This year the statewide force, founded by a Kingston physician, is 50-years-old.

Carmichael Addresses Students in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Stokely Carmichael, civil rights advocate of "black power," says Negroes "must develop the political and economic power of the black community."

Carmichael, chairman of the student Non-violent Coordinating committee, told approximately 1,500 students at Syracuse University Wednesday night that "black power doesn't mean taking over the country."

"What it does mean," he added, "is that black men should take over control of the black community."

He said the Negro community "must bring to an end its dependence on the white community and the abuses to which the black man has been subject because of a system of white supremacy."

Carmichael said the "black power" concept has been misunderstood because it was "distorted by the news media." He said "these agencies reflected a white racist interpretation of the idea, rather than what was intended by its Negro advocates."

stands 7,100 strong. Pay for the new men is $6,225 per year—a far cry from the original yearly pay of $900 received by the troopers in 1917.

The force was created that year by the late Col. George F. Chandler, who will be honored in April by this city. He served as superintendent of the unit from May 2, 1917 through Dec. 1, 1923 and headed a total of 237 men.

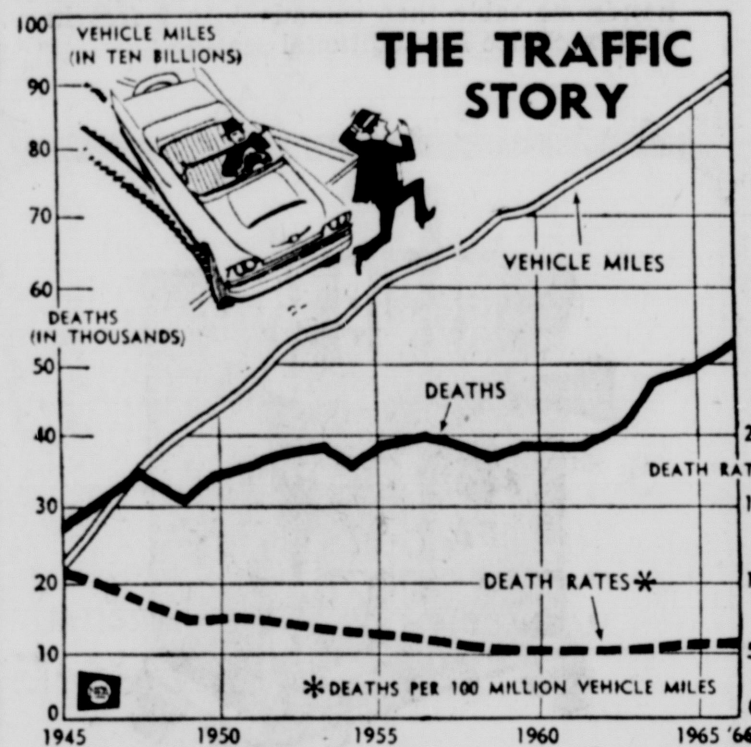

Col. Chandler summed up his picture of the unit with a motto still enforced today: "A successful Police Force should be a popular one, giving the maximum protection with minimum of interference with the lawful rights of a citizen."

Attending the graduation ceremonies in Albany were Hommes' parents and wife and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Castelein of Clifton, N. J.

The new trooper is a graduate of the Paterson (N.J.) Central High School and was employed by the IBM facility in Kingston prior to his appointment to the State Police. He will be stationed in western New York State during his probationary period.

The numbers of drivers and vehicles on the nation's roads have been climbing steadily since World War II and so has the number of traffic deaths—to a record total of 52,500 in 1966, according to National Safety Council statistics.

Budget Pressure Over, Governor Attends to Art

NEW YORK (AP) — Having persuaded the New York State Legislature to support his record $4.5 billion budget, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller relaxed with a group of fellow art lovers and told them of his problems persuading the legislators to support modern painting and sculpture.

Getting Adjusted

"They're getting quite adjusted," he told a chuckling audience at the New School where the governor, one of the world's great collectors, lectured Wednesday night on "The Private Collector and Changing Public Taste."

This was Rockefeller's second change of pace in a week. He did a comic bit Monday night on the Johnny Carson Tonight Show.

His art audience Wednesday night, mostly wealthy connoisseurs, loved his lecture.

The governor told of how he became interested in collecting through his mother and how much the arts had come to mean to him.

Why did he set up a fantastic art collection in the Executive Mansion?

Because "as governor, I decided I would enjoy some objects I collect and would share this joy with fellow politicians in Albany—let's face it: it was a new experience for Albany."

"When I first began asking the politicians over," he said, "I'd get reactions like 'my three-year-old son could do better' when they'd look at a Picasso."

"They then got excited. 'When they'd ask me what a picture meant, I'd tell them 'if you try to understand, you're lost. Just look; don't think.' 'I have large groups of people—at least as large as Hannu—

(this wife) will let me—over to the mansion for lunch and dinner every day and I have to have the right atmosphere."

Hannu, wearing a pale pink mini-skirt almost mid-high in length, just laughed when the governor indicated she was the boss in the Mansion.

"Finally the pictures began to inspire our legislators and influenced them," Rockefeller continued.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

One day while preparing deviled eggs for a pot-luck buffet luncheon, I thought, "How hard it is to pick them up."

All of a sudden, I thought of putting each half in one of those tiny little cake inserts ordinarily used in a small muffin tin.

They work like a charm and look so very attractive.

Agnes Wachter

Now that's what I call a real cookie idea.

And look at all the silver trays it's going to keep from tarnishing.

And how beautiful your trays will look with all those tinted little fluted edges.

Agnes, you're a marvel to think that one up.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

The small foam inserts found in the top of sizer bottles make good guards for knitting needles!

Going to and from knitting class I sometimes lost the regular rubber stoppers and the stitches too, until I thought of using these foam discs.

Mrs. Orin Baker

Dear Heloise:

A large piece of foam rubber makes a fine pincushion.

I had some scraps of foam rubber left after I had made some pillows.

I cut a strip of the foam rubber and pinned it around the head part that leads across my sewing machine. I use it to put needles or pins in while sewing.

Ruby T. Wallace

Dear Heloise:

For storing freezer items, I use packages from frozen vegetables.

I find that by removing the wax paper wrapping, I can then place my freezer bags of food in these clean cartons, label them and stack them so easily.

They are just as nice as the ones anyone can buy and most of all...they're free!

Carolyn Parker

For those who have trouble seeing the lines on the paint-by-number pictures, try using an inexpensive magnifying glass.

And they are useful around the house for so many other things such as finding phone numbers.

S.M.

I have one by my phone book. Regardless of the great advances in science each year, printing seems to get smaller and smaller! Or are we just getting older?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When my baby was old enough to graduate from crib to bed, I was a little hesitant for fear she would hurt herself falling.

My husband bought four legs about five inches high. He drilled holes in the corners of the frame around the spring of her crib, attached the legs and Presto—one low, safe, youth bed.

As an added bonus I found I could use the same fitted crib sheets—and if ever the crib was needed again, it could be put back together, legs and all.

Mrs. Eileen Morgan

Dear Folks:

Would you like a laugh and something good too?

Save your pickled beet juice and put some cottage cheese in it. Drain off the white fluid from the cottage cheese before you put it in the beet juice.

You'll end up with pink pickled cottage cheese and it is really terrific.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I keep two or three brass cup hooks attached to the back of my television and stereo.

I hook the extra cords that usually lie all over the floor on these hooks.

This look much neater and makes it easier to sweep and dust under the furniture.

Diane Lavene

RED STYLES these days follow somewhat the same trends as western clothes, with perhaps a bit more austerity. Among garments shown at a style show in Sofia, Bulgaria, featuring creations from several Communist countries, was this sport outfit from East Germany. It includes a short-skirted jumper, striped blouse, high sox and "little girl" shoes.

Transfer Body Of JFK to New Stone Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of President John F. Kennedy was transferred without ceremony Tuesday night from the temporary grave it has occupied since his assassination in 1963 to its permanent resting place in a granite memorial a few yards away.

The bodies of two children who died before their father, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and a stillborn infant, were placed near the president's body in the memorial.

The new Kennedy grave, like the old, is on a hillside in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from Washington.

The torch which has burned with only a few interruptions since the original burial on Nov. 26, 1963, was transferred to the memorial gravesite. Its flickering light will be visible from the Lincoln Memorial on the Washington side of the river.

Rain fell on workmen as they put the finishing touches to the reinterment early today.

While the funeral and burial service following the assassination were witnessed by millions either in person or on television, the second burial was carried out in middle-of-the-night secrecy.

The memorial has a low silhouette and features a wall upon which are chiseled quotations from the inaugural speech Kennedy gave on Jan. 20, 1961.

Born at Right Time

Boats were small, seamen could not sail into the wind and so stayed close to land, the compass was not available, the stars had not been charted accurately and it was not until the mid-15th century that ocean navigation was established as a science. Thus, had Columbus been born earlier, he probably could not have made his voyage of discovery of the New World in 1492.

He and his wife, Sylvia, reside on Yerry Hill Road in Bearsville.

Recommends L. I., N. J. Jet Ports

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority recommended today construction of new jetports at Calverton, on Long Island, and in Northern New Jersey.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller endorsed the recommendations at a news conference in his New York office, with Dr. William J. Roman, chairman of the MCTA.

Rockefeller said he would send implementing measures to the State Legislature, requesting that the MCTA be empowered to begin negotiations for acquisition of the Calverton site, currently owned by the U.S. Navy and leased to the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. Rockefeller said he hoped New Jersey officials would give "serious consideration" to the proposal for a fifth jetport in the northern part of the state.

In a report on air facilities in the New York metropolitan area, the MCTA also proposed that the state acquire the existing Republic and Zahn General Aviation Airports in Western Suffolk County and two new general aviation airport sites in Northwestern Westchester and Central Rockland Counties.

New York City's Lexington School for the Deaf was founded in 1867.

Social Agencies Get Briefing on State Medicaid

Members of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies who attended the March luncheon meeting at the YWCA Tuesday received first hand information on "Medicaid" the state law that gives medical assistance to needy persons from Harold N. Larsen, case supervisor and long-time employee of the Ulster County Department of Public Welfare.

Larsen explained medical assistance will pay the medical bills in whole or in part of New York State residents who can maintain themselves but who cannot meet the costs of medical care. While most of these individuals and families will be in the low-income or moderate income groups, others, facing catastrophic costs, may also be eligible for medical assistance, he added.

These payments will be made directly to hospitals, physicians, nurses, druggists and others who provide what ever health services and care may be required for the patient. Claims can be paid for any medical services given in the three-month period preceding the month of application if the applicant was eligible when the services were given. The applicant cannot be reimbursed for any medical bills he may have already paid, he added.

The State Department of Health is responsible for assuring a high standard of health care for all recipients of medical assistance and will administer all medical aspects of the program, it was noted.

Application for medical assistance is made at the local department of public welfare, which is responsible for receiving and acting upon applications and certifying eligibility. Application may be made in person, by mail or by another person for the applicant. In addition to the medically needy citizens who qualify for payment of their medical bills in whole or in part, other groups will have their medical care paid for. These include all welfare recipients, eligible patients 65 years of age and over in State mental hygiene and tuberculosis hospitals, and Medicare—are beneficiaries who can not pay the $40 deductible for hospitalization and other costs not covered by Medicare.

Larsen also said that the local office has received 2,611 new applications for Medicaid, so far they have processed 2,100 excepted over 1,700, rejected 400 and have pending 500. For January the local office spent $128,000 for medical assistance under the program of Medicaid. Thirty states now have programs of this type, "but none that give the coverage that we have in New York State," he added. A question and answer period followed Larsen's talk.

Council president Louis H. Schafer, announced that on Tuesday, March 28, a special meeting will be held at the Children's Home Annex office.

No One Injured In Rosendale Crash

A two-car accident Wednesday about 8:15 a. m. on Rosendale-Creek Locks Road was investigated by the Sheriff's Department. Occupants of both cars escaped injury. Mary E. Smith, 33, of Broadway, Port Ewen, was traveling south on Rosendale-Creek Locks Road when her car skidded on the slippery pavement as she was rounding a curve. According to a report by the investigating officers, her car struck one operated by Ruth Ebberts, of Star Route, Rosendale, which was traveling north. The Ebberts car pulled off the highway in an endeavor to avoid the accident. Deputy Sheriff Marshall Canosa investigated.

72 Highland Avenue to discuss further the recommendations of the survey committee. All members who are serving on the steering committee are urged to attend. Schafer is also extending an invitation to all Council members to attend.

On Tuesday, April 11, the next business meeting will be held followed by a program explaining the services in Ulster County for the Retarded Children. On Thursday, April 20, the Ulster County Association for Mental Health will hold its annual meeting at the Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church. Guest speaker will be Dr. James M. Bell, Clinical Director—Psychiatrist Berkshire Farm Home for Boys, Canaan, Conn. Dr. Bell has very wide psychiatric experience and is extremely well qualified to speak on this topic. This meeting is open to all who are interested and is not restricted to Association members for Mental Health.

Grumman May Go to Maine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R - Maine, says the Grumman Aircraft Engineering Co. is considering moving its plant at Bethpage, N.Y., to Maine.

She said Wednesday she had offered her assistance to promote the move of the firm from its current site in Nassau County.

In a telegram to L. J. Evans, president of Grumman, Mrs. Smith wrote: "I am delighted that you are considering moving your company from New York to Maine. Please advise if there is any manner in which I can be of assistance for your company's possible move to Maine."

Guam Blossoms Into Another Honolulu Meet

SAIGON (AP) — President Johnson's little get-together on Guam with his top men in Vietnam is turning into a full-scale conference on the order of the Honolulu meeting 13 months ago.

Sources close to the South Vietnamese government reported today that eight of its top officials — not just Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu — will attend the conference, which opens Monday. A number of aides will accompany them, the sources said.

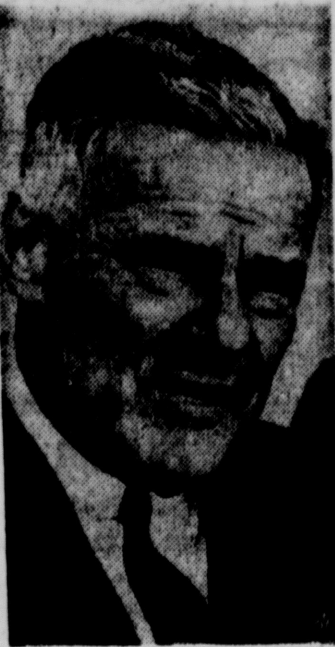

The sources said the delegation would also include Lt. Gen. Cao Van Vien, the defense minister and chief of the joint general staff; Maj. Gen. Nguyen Bao Tri, the minister of information and open arms (the program to attract Viet Cong defectors); Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thanh, the revolutionary development (pacification) minister; Nguyen Huu Hanh, the governor of banks; Foreign Minister Tran Van Do, and Bui Diem, the ambassador to the United States.

Johnson on March 9 said he was going to confer with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. military chief in Vietnam. He said they meet about every six months, indicating it was a routine conference.

Kv announced Wednesday he would attend.

The sources close to Ky's government said the decision for Thieu to go also was made Wednesday night at a meeting of the ruling military junta. Although Kv is the evident leader of the junta, Thieu technically outranks him and is a power in his own right within the group.

Shakeup Reflects Greater U.S. Try On Pacification

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending his top crisis diplomat, 72-year-old Ellsworth Bunker, to Vietnam to replace retiring ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Bunker's immediate task will be to assure success of efforts already under way to form a new, constitutional South Vietnamese government.

No Date Announced

The Lodge resignation and Bunker appointment, suddenly announced by Johnson Wednesday, were the most important changes in a far reaching shake-up of the U.S. Embassy staff in Saigon. No changeover date was announced, however.

The overhaul reportedly reflects a determination by the President to put new emphasis on trying to develop political stability in the South Vietnamese capital and to step up pacification of the war-ravaged countryside. Johnson is reported to consider both as vital fronts in the fight to defeat Communist conquest of the South.

Almost as Johnson talked, there were reports from Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin and United Nations sources of fresh peace initiatives. Washington sources said they were aware of these developments but that no indication of change in Hanoi's policy had been received.

Johnson also announced that Gen. William C. Westmoreland's military command will be strengthened by "additional" top flight military personnel — the best that the country has been able to provide. He promised intensive ground operations in the months ahead.

No Word on General

There is continuing speculation here that Westmoreland may be given a new Southeast Asia theater command, but Johnson made no mention of any such change in the course of his announcements during a speech at Nashville, Tenn.

The President is scheduled to fly to Guam, leaving Washington Saturday night, for a Vietnamese war conference which will bring together Bunker, Lodge, Westmoreland and other U.S. leaders involved in the conflict. South Vietnamese leaders including Premier Nguyen Cao Ky will also attend.

The President's decision to accept his resignation at this time apparently triggered the series of moves which was made public Wednesday. In addition to the naming of Bunker and the promise of new officers for Westmoreland, these are:

Other Changes

Assignment of Eugene M. Locke, presently ambassador in Pakistan, to replace Deputy Ambassador William Porter, a career diplomat. Locke, 49, is a native of Dallas, Tex., a graduate of the University of Texas and Yale University. He was practicing law in Texas when the President made him ambassador to Pakistan last June.

Assignment of Robert Komer, Johnson's special assistant in charge of the Vietnamese pacification program, primarily to the embassy staff in Saigon to exercise firsthand direction over the operation designed to increase security, order and living standards in the towns and villages of South Vietnam. Locke and Komer are also to attend the Guam meeting.

State Water Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has reserved grants totaling $797,000 for the improvement of water systems in two New York State communities.

The federal agency announced Wednesday the grants would be awarded, pending final approval of the communities' applications.

The grants are $573,900 to Saranac Lake, and $223,100 to Genoa in Cayuga County.

Antarctic Check By U.S. Finds All Is Orderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — American inspectors calling at Antarctic scientific stations of the Soviet Union and six other nations apparently found nothing more sinister than penguins.

The inspectors "do not seem to have turned up anything unusual," was the way State Department officials phrased today a preliminary report on the findings of the five-man U.S. team.

The check began in January and ended early this month. It was carried out under the 1959 Antarctic Treaty, which outlaws military use of the south polar continent. The 12-nation treaty allows its members to inspect the area to make sure treaty provisions are obeyed.

Art Damaged

Appraisal Due By Library; Put $4,200 at UCCC

Value of the Kingston City Library painting recently damaged by vandalism is yet to be established, but that of four at the Ulster County Community College, also recently slashed, is fixed at $4,200.

The library painting is a portrait of Kingston poet, Henry Abbey (1842-1911) by John Vanderlyn The Younger, (1805-1866) nephew of Kingston's first internationally known artist, John Vanderlyn (1775-1852).

Robert Neal, library director, today said it is planned to have an appraisal made of the painting made by Fred Johnston, antique dealer of 63 Main Street in the near future. He also noted that the library had recently been given a Henry Abbey manuscript, by Adelaide Kennedy, daughter of David E. Kennedy, former local mayor (1892-1895).

It had been planned, Neal said, to include display of the manuscript with the poet's portrait. He is doubtful as to whether the painting can be satisfactorily restored.

The portrait, he noted, hangs high over a fire place, and the damage to it had not been noticed for more than a week after a recent burglary and vandalism in the building. It was not established whether the damage was done during the burglary.

The four paintings at the Community College are by noted contemporary Woodstock artist, Bruce Currie and are part of a "Meet the Artist" program.

James Haviland, public relations director, at the college, said the painting were apparently all slashed at the same time and said the wanted damage could have been done between day and night sessions at the college.

DeGaulle Gives Eviction Gift To NATO Chief

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle today awarded the highest rank in the Legion of Honor as a farewell tribute to the U.S. general whose NATO forces France has evicted from French soil.

De Gaulle kissed Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer on both cheeks and handed him the broad red ribbon of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor at a formal military ceremony in the courtyard of the Hotel des Invalides, adjoining Napoleon's Tomb.

Lemnitzer, supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military forces and commander of American forces in Europe, moved his U.S. headquarters Tuesday from a Paris suburb to Stuttgart, Germany, and will transfer his NATO headquarters from Paris to southern Belgium on March 30.

Portugal is the westernmost nation of continental Europe.

sued by Charles A. Pierce, director of Division of Research and Statistics of the New York State Department of Labor, which should encourage everyone to exploit to the fullest degree the offerings in our high schools.

He quoted from the Pierce report: "Since the kinds of impression people have about occupational education and training are important, it is important that we have good projections—and sound interpretations. His interpretation concerning future skill needs can easily result not only from poor projections but also—as happens too often—from publicizing projections without benefit of the kind of realistic interpretation that the manpower statistician or economist can give the data."

Aronica said that an example of inadequate reading of data is found in assertions that automation, space-age technology, are rapidly carrying us into a situation where high school education will no longer suffice as preparation for a job; that practically everyone will need some sort of post-secondary education or else specialized, protracted job training.

"One cannot talk with any assurance about the situation 50 or even 25 years from now, but insofar as we can glimpse the picture of the next 10 years, this view is not realistic," the director said.

Aronica quoted some of the American Institutes for Research report of a national study released on Feb. 10, 1966, as follows:

Study of 10,000 "The completed phase of the study surveyed the post-high school occupational and educational experiences of 10,000 vocational and 3,000 academic graduates selected from 100 high schools located in 38 states. The graduates ranged from two to 11 years out of high school.

1. Vocational graduates get their first full-time job after graduation much quicker than do academic graduates. The average time to get a first full-time job for vocational graduates is less than six weeks. Fifty per cent get their first full-time job within two weeks after graduation.

2. Vocational graduates enjoy substantial greater employment security than do academic graduates without college education. The median 1953-1958-1962 graduate was 95 per cent fully employed.

3. Vocational graduates have greater accumulated earnings over the 11-year period covered by the survey than do academic course graduates with no college education.

4. About 50 per cent of the vocational graduates enter into the trades for which trained or highly related occupations. Another 15 per cent enter occupations that are somewhat related to the trade studied in high school. Total 65 per cent nationwide.

5. There is very little mobility among vocational course graduates. Less than three per cent obtained their first full-time job by moving to another city. Eleven years after graduation, 87 per cent still reside and work in the city in which they went to school. Another 10 per cent have made only one new city move in the 11-year period.

6. A comparison of vocational and academic graduates without a college education reveals no difference in conversational interests, leisure-time activities, and affiliation with community organizations. The findings contradict the contention that the vocational graduates are more poorly educated than academic graduates from the standpoint of education of the "whole person."

7. While only 15 per cent of the vocational graduates went to college, about 42 per cent reported having had some type of formal post-high school education. Most attended private and public adult-level trade and technical schools, and company courses.

Follow Up Studies Aronica noted that follow up studies of vocational-technical graduates in the North Atlantic Region concerning trade and industrial education show the following facts:

a. Seventy per cent of all graduates enter the occupation for which they received training or one closely allied to it.

b. This number jumps to 90 per cent in the state of Connecticut. Obviously the secondary school vocational courses are compatible with the labor market. Further evidence of this can be found in The Freeman.

Aronica spoke of a series of recommendations based on certain premises contained in his talk. They were: Success breeds success; graduation from a two-year or four-year college is not the only means of achieving success either financially or socially; students have likes and dislikes which they feel they must pursue, and if that interest is within their ability level, they should be allowed to pursue it.

Should Be Exploited The speaker said that students are individuals who have talents and abilities, and these demonstrated abilities should be exploited immediately, others will appear with maturity and experience.

Resnick Says Court Upholds View on Elwyn

The New York State Supreme Court Appellate Division has upheld Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's contention that Ulster County Family Court Judge Hugh Elwyn should disqualify himself from hearing all cases involving his cousin, Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons.

The opinion, which was contained in a letter to the Congressman from John J. O'Brien, Clerk of the Court, was in response to an inquiry by Resnick in a letter to Presiding Judge James Gibson of March 6. Contents of the reply were released by the Congressman's Washington office today.

Resnick had asked, (1) "What steps can be taken to protect the public from such future cases of conflict of interest," and (2) "What, if anything, can be done about past decisions handed down by Judge Elwyn in which one of the parties to the litigation was the Welfare Commissioner and/or his agency."

No Advice on Past O'Brien's reply said that the court cannot and does not render advisory or other opinions with respect to "past decisions," unless and until the cases involving them are before it.

"With respect to the purely administrative aspects of the 'future cases' alluded to in your letter," the reply said, "the Court considers that your inquiry is proper one and directs me to advise you that the judges of any of the county-level courts in Ulster County are authorized to sit in either of the other of such courts during the absence, disqualification or other disability of a judge of one of such other courts."

O'Brien's letter further states that provisions have been made for two other Justices, Judge Mino and Judge Davis, to sit in the Family Court when the regularly appointed judge is disqualified or absent in accordance with this procedure.

Congressman Resnick was sharply critical of Judge Elwyn for not making use during the Luni case, of the disqualification procedure which was already established by the Supreme Court Appellate Division.

Resnick said, "Judge Elwyn must certainly have been aware of this procedure during the Luni case. It is not as if this sort of problem was not recognized and anticipated by the Courts. This procedure was authorized by court order as far back as 1963, but obviously Judge Elwyn did not see fit to make use of it. He had to be told."

Congressman Resnick pointed out in his letter that the Appellate Division last year had disapproved Judge Elwyn from presiding at the Luni adoption case. Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons had ruled against the adoption of Beth St. John, age 4, by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luni of Tilton, her foster parents of four years.

Judge Elwyn, who is married to Fitzsimmons' first cousin, upped the Commissioner's decision. The higher court held later that Elwyn should have disqualified himself because of the conflict of interest.

Eventually, Fitzsimmons ended his opposition to the adoption. Resnick then wrote to the Ulster County Bar Association on two occasions, on Jan. 17, and again on Feb. 15, asking the steps the Bar Association planned to take to protect the public from future such incidents. He stated that he has received no reply to this date.

Therefore, he said, he wrote again to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

Reid Favors Big Hike WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ogden Reid thinks each member of Congress should get a $20,000 annual pay boost — or a little more than twice what the federal government is paying for comic book research.

Reid, R-N.Y., introduced a bill Wednesday that would raise congressional salaries to $30,000 while requiring legislators to make public disclosures of their financial holdings.

once can be used with better results at that time. He noted that some students feel the need for the immediate security offered by vocational education, and to attempt to prolong this motivation by two or four years is "illogical and dangerous."

Aronica pointed out that those who have gambled and lost (the number may be as high as 70 per cent in some instances) face the awesome physical task of starting all over again to build a security which they should have done long before and should be enjoying. "There is nothing as devastating physiologically as being a failure," the speaker said.

Recommendations made by Aronica were:

1. Students demonstrating an interest or talent in vocational and technical work should be allowed to follow this interest. Those that change their mind will not be penalized. They will receive credit for the year they put in and will be much wiser and knowledgeable for the experience.

2. Students be dissuaded from gambling on their future. If there is any doubt about the possible success on the post-high school level, they should establish first a solid platform of security from which they can step ahead or retreat to, as the case may be. Since success breeds success, they can move forward at their own pace.

3. And finally, I would recommend a continuing curriculum through grades 13 and 14 so that a smooth transition can be affected especially in the subject area.

Waives Court Hearing

William Hasbrouck, 46, of 116 Hooker Street, charged last month with driving while intoxicated as a second offender, waived preliminary city court hearing today for grand jury action. He had also been booked on a one-way street charge and was fined $15 on that. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared with him before Special City Judge George A. Beck.

Surprise Storm

George Fichtner, acting county highway superintendent, said snow accumulation ranged between 6 and 12 inches, with more reported in the mountain area in the southern tier of Ulster County.

Fichtner reported the highways were plowed yesterday afternoon and snow removal forces went home for rest and supper at 4 p. m. and returned to the job about 7 a. m. after more snow had fallen. The crews continued operations until 1 a. m. and resumed work at 6 a. m. today.

6-7 in NW Areas Highways in most parts of the county were scraped and salted and sand equipment followed the heavier machinery to remove ice-slick and glaze of packed snow. Highway officials were hopeful a rise in the temperature today would aid in clearing the pavement.

Fichtner said in the northwestern section of the county the accumulation was 6 to 7 inches. He said Marlboro and Highland areas reported at least 12 inches.

Two Bad Interruptions Joseph J. Benjamin, custom relations manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported that "two bad" interruptions in electric service snapped off trees and pulled down power lines. Benjamin said about 500 customers were effected in the Rifton West and Park areas.

The West Park failure cut off power at the Highland State Police barracks and police facilities there operated on an emergency setup from about 4:20 a. m. to 6 a. m. today.

Thruway troopers reported many cars slid off the superhighway. A traffic tieup resulted on north and southbound lanes near Kingston when two tractor-trailers were involved in a collision and one vehicle jackknifed. No serious injuries were reported.

Slush on Route 209 near Nanuet at 9:30 a. m. today, caused a two-car head-on collision resulting in injuries to two men. Trooper F. H. Steiner, of the Ellenville State Police, said the cars were operated by Charles Seitzman, 68, of Landing, N. J., and Hyman Gardlin, 50, of 15 Lounsbury Place, this city.

Both men were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital and treated for facial lacerations and possible chest injuries. Their conditions are listed as good.

Seitzman, troopers said, was driving north when his car skidded in the slush, crossed into the southbound lane, and the vehicles collided.

Steiner said an arrest is pending.

Picture in State Elsewhere in the state, the Associated Press reported cold March winds added to the severe conditions in the state as 16 inches of new snow mounted into drifts, snarling highway and air traffic and closing many schools.

Skies began to clear somewhat early today in western counties and were expected to do so throughout the state by tonight, as Thursday's storm moved into the Atlantic. The Weather Bureau predicted that temperatures in the teens and 20s overnight, would tumble another ten degrees tonight, after holding in the 20s and 30s during the day.

The winds complicated the wintry picture—just five days before spring's official arrival. State Police reported blowing drifting snow from Lake Erie to the New England line. The speed limit on the Taconic State Parkway, east of the Hudson Valley, was reduced to 35 miles per hour because of poor visibility in blowing snow.

All major highways were open. State Police said, but driving was extremely hazardous.

The Weather Bureau reported 16 inches at Tannersville, in the Catskills, 13 at Newburgh, 12 at Cobleskill, and generally lesser amounts northward and westward. Albany measured 8.

Up to 7 inches covered Central and southwestern New York.

The only area to escape the storm was the St. Lawrence Valley, which measured only a trace.

It was the second March storm in little more than a week to batter the Hudson Valley-Catskill Mountain area. On March 6 and 7, more than a foot of snow fell.

GOP Campaigner, Victor Johnston Dies in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Victor A. Johnston, who shaped Republican political strategy for nearly two decades as an official of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, died Wednesday night in a Miami hospital.

Johnston, who was the committee's field director, lived in Key Biscayne.

He suffered a heart attack in Washington Sunday night but returned to Miami by plane the next day and was placed in Mercy Hospital, where he suffered a second attack.

It is expected funeral services will be held Saturday in Washington.

A native of Inkster, N.D., Johnston took his first job with the Republicans in 1944 as executive secretary to the Republican party of Wisconsin. He moved on two years later to Washington as administrative assistant to Sen. Joseph McCarthy and was named campaign director of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee in 1949.

Grandma Will Oppose Powell

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucille Pickett Williams, a 50-year-old grandmother, has taken on the Republican task of opposing Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11 because she wants to "preserve the two-party system."

For 20 years, she has been working for the Republican party while holding a series of jobs ranging from a stock girl at Sak's Fifth Avenue to teaching beauty culture at the YWCA.

"I am a determined woman," she says, noting that there appears to be overwhelming popular support for Powell in the Harlem community. She says she has no fear that the people will turn against her as they did on James H. Merdith when he agreed to oppose Powell as the Republicans first choice, then withdrew.

"I have no fear of the people up here," she says. "I've spent the best years of my life here. 22 years. I've worked hard for the two-party system. I think it's important for people who don't want to vote for Adam to have a choice."

LBJ May Attend Summit in L-A Without Approval WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may go to the Punta del Este summit conference next month without formal congressional approval for his Latin-American economic integration program.

Mounting opposition, led by Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, threatens to delay approval for the program Johnson has proposed be financed by $1.5 billion in additional expenditures over the next five years.

In advance of a scheduled appearance Friday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk before his committee to outline the program, Fulbright said in an interview he is opposed to "hasty procedures" on clearing a resolution approving the program before Johnson's trip.

"I think this matter should be handled in the regular way with thorough examination of the individual proposals," he said. "I do not approve of blanket endorsements of such programs."

"This resolution could be entirely innocent where some of them have not been. But I do not wish to be a party to participating in approval in advance of a program that we know little about."

"Once we have voted such a resolution we have a moral obligation to approve whatever is done, whether we like it or not."

Changes in Approach BRASLIA, Brazil (AP) — President Arthur de Costa e Silva promised Brazilians today a continued fight against inflation and held out hope for more homes, more schools and some comfort in the future.

Costa e Silva, inaugurated Wednesday, pledged in a policy address to continue the policies of his predecessor, Humberto Castello Branco, but with changes in approach.

Stocks Up Sharply NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced sharply today, continuing a rally that began Wednesday.

Local Death Record

Tyler C. Hughes Sr. Funeral services for Tyler C. Hughes Sr., of Powell's Lane, Town of Ulster, were held Tuesday afternoon at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home Inc., 296 Fair Street, with the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, pastor of St. James Methodist Church officiating. A veteran of World War I, Mr. Hughes entered service in New York City, Sept. 30, 1918 and after serving as a private in the 13th Company, 152nd Depot Brigade was discharged at Camp Upton Dec. 21, 1918. Services were largely attended by relatives and friends. There were many floral tributes. Sunday night members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department led by Sheriff William B. Martin visited the funeral home. Monday night employees of Bryant Service Station where Mr. Hughes had been employed, called to pay their respects. Monday afternoon the Rev. Mr. Hunter called and offered prayers. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery. The flag which draped the casket was folded by Deputy Sheriff James Walsh and presented to the widow, Mrs. Jessie Hughes, by Deputy Sheriff Merle Greene. Bearers were David E. Hughes Jr., Donald C. Two Say Reid Disregards Hose Co. Tradition

Two candidates running for election in the March 21 Rosendale village election have charged Democratic candidate for mayor, Joseph Reid, with "complete disregard" for a long standing tradition of Active Hose Company No. 1, the village of Rosendale Fire Department, in an obvious "effort to maintain as much power as possible within the established organizations in the village."

Mrs. Harriet Mulligan, candidate for trustee, and Attorney William P. Curran, charge that Reid should have resigned as trustee of the fire department when he was elected village trustee last year.

"It has been a long standing tradition, carried out by the late Harold Krom, former trustee, and former trustee Harold Schoonmaker, that when a trustee of the fire company is elected trustee of the village, that the trusteeship in the fire department is given up, and he thereupon resigns, there being a conflict of interest," Curran said.

The trustee of the village, the office holder must represent all of the taxpayers and all of the people of the village, and as trustee of the fire company he represents only the fire department and is responsible to carry out their desires, Curran alleges.

"This was the theory and philosophy behind it, however Mr. Reid continues to refuse to give up his trusteeship in the fire company in an obvious effort to maintain as much power as possible, within the established organizations in the village of Rosendale," Curran concluded.

See TAP Exhibit In Poughkeepsie

Students of Oak Grove Elementary School, Poughkeepsie, have an opportunity to view an exhibition from the Talented Art Program, a Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center project, until March 23. This exhibition is a traveling show from work produced by members of crafts workshops taught by outstanding artists in ceramics, sculpture, silversmithing, leather, photography and weaving. Participants in TAP workshops come from school systems within the five counties (Orange, Putnam, Dutchess, Sullivan, Ulster) serviced by the Regional Center.

The Talented Art Program is an ESEA project under Title III.

Parents are invited to view this exhibition which graphically shows the capacity young people have for learning techniques of exacting art crafts. All members of TAP workshops are volunteer participants who attend the out-of-classroom sessions on their own time.

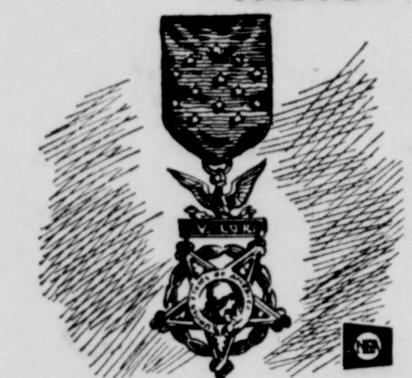

Talented Art Program is funded under a grant from the U. S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Craft workshops for the spring of 1967 are being held in Woodstock, Rock Tavern, Poughkeepsie, Garrison and New Paltz.

No Prison Bid Awarded

No bids were received by the State Department of Public Works on construction and electric work for the bar gate at the Wallkill Prison Administration Building. According to J. Burch McMorran, department superintendent, the project was one of eight projects on which bids were awarded in Albany Wednesday. It was not noted if bids will be requested a second time for the Wallkill Prison project.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Medal of Honor is the nation's highest military award for gallantry. It is usually presented to an individual by the President, "in the name of the Congress of the United States," and thus is often called the Congressional Medal of Honor, says The World Almanac. Since first awarded in 1862, the medal has been given to over 3,000 men in all branches of the armed services. In addition, it has been given to the unknown soldiers of Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy and Romania.

Changing Times Seen in Content Of Ulysses Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty five years ago U.S. Customs officials seized and burned 500 copies of James Joyce's novel "Ulysses" and for a decade afterwards the "in" thing for American tourists to bring home from Paris was a smuggled copy of the work now regarded as a major modern classic.

Times changed. In 1934 a federal judge ruled that "Ulysses" — four-letter words and all — could be legally sold in the United States.

Now in Movie

Times changed still further and Tuesday night the movie version — four-letter words and erotic scenes intact — opened without a word of censorship.

The result? Rave reviews from New York critics and smash box-office countrywide.

Threatened official action against the picture in Chicago and Maryland failed to develop, although Maryland's Board of Censors — the last such state board in the nation — gave its seal of approval only hours before the film opened in Baltimore.

The U.S. District Court in Chicago enjoined that city's officials March 10 from interfering with the showing of the picture. British censors were much tougher.

Made 25 Cuts

They granted "Ulysses" a certificate for public showing in London Tuesday but made 25 cuts. Where language was scissored out, the screen shows characters talking but no sound is heard.

At two points the screen goes blank where censors cut out scenes they considered objectionable.

The producers said the missing dialogue and the cut scenes will be quoted or described in program notes handed out to audiences.

The Walter Reade organization, U.S. distributors of the picture, said it would take in over $1 million during its first showings, limited to three days. Prices are the highest ever charged for admission to a movie — $5.50 for evening performances and $4 for matinees.

The picture cost less than $1 million to make on location in Dublin. The language did not shock the critics and did not appear to bother audiences.

The Scotch Convenanters of the 17th century chose blue as their emblem in opposition to the royal red and from this came the expression "true blue," originally applied to a loyal Presbyterian.

Report Copper Wire Stolen From Service Lines

Local authorities have been plagued recently with a rash of complaints from Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company of theft of copper wire.

The practice has been to cut service wires leading from poles to residences. These service lines are energized and apparently are cut with a pole-type wire cutter.

Complaints have come from various sections of the county from the Town of Esopus to the Town of Olive and Shandaken.

Some 3,500 feet of copper wire was recently reported stolen from a Lucas Avenue Extension property while the residents were in Florida. Many of the thefts have been from summer property, although the Sheriff's Department has received complaints of thefts of copper lead-in wire from occupied residences.

The complaints are under investigation by Sheriff Martin's staff and County Investigator Harold T. Bowers.

The folding fan was brought to Europe from the Far East by Portuguese traders in the 16th century.

Killed in Crash
FONDA, N.Y. (AP) — A 37-year-old man from Gloversville was killed Wednesday in the collision of two cars on Route 5 near this community in the Mohawk Valley.

He was Robert Smith, who was the owner-operator of a gasoline service station here.

Solon Declares Middle-Incomer Forgotten Man
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., says the middle-income taxpayer is the forgotten American because of the current tax structure in the United States. The legislator from Pleasantville introduced a bill Wednesday that he said would alleviate the plight of the middle-income taxpayer.
The bill would:
—Double to $1,200 the exemption for dependents under 16 and students under 11.
—Provide for a tax deduction of up to $3,600 for three or more children for widows or widowers who have to obtain day-care for their children.
—Tighten tax provisions such as the depletion allowance on oil and minerals "to reduce the flood of privileged money from the Treasury."
—Provide for the deductions for the cost of higher education, with the deductible amount based on a formula related to the income of a student and his parents.
Ottinger said in a statement that "as much as $40 million may escape the U.S. Treasury each year through special-interest provisions and loopholes."
"The middle-income taxpayer has to make up the difference," Ottinger asserted.

Urges Using Generic-Name Drugs to Cut Medicaid Cost

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for a citizens committee says New York State could reduce the cost of its medical-aid program by buying and using generic-name drugs rather than brand-name products.

William F. Haddad, president of the Citizens Committee for Metropolitan Affairs Inc., made that assertion at a news conference here Wednesday.

Haddad claims that surveys conducted by his committee show that the state pays "unrealistically high prices" for the brand-name drugs used in public institutions for its medical-aid program and for treating welfare patients.

Dr. Granville Larimore, a first deputy commissioner of the State Health Department, told The Associated Press in Albany, however, that the state already buys generically described drugs. Larimore said that generic products are used in mental institutions and prisons and that the department contracts with drug firms on a low-bid basis, for many vaccines.

The commissioner noted that the state cannot buy some drugs under generic names because of patent rights held by their manufacturers.

Haddad also renewed the committee's appeal for corrective legislation "to protect the New York consumer and taxpayer from the high cost of drugs."

156th Lists New Officers

POUGHKEEPSIE—Major Otto A. Schaedlich, 2 Willow Ave., Poughkeepsie, has been assigned as executive officer of the 2nd Battalion (Honest John) 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, to succeed Captain Clarence A. Brower, 17 Barclay Street, who will retire from the National Guard this month. Major Schaedlich has served as the operations and training staff officer (S3) for the battalion since August 1965. Previous to this time he served as the Headquarters Battery commander and as communications officer. His military service began in September 1945 and has been devoted to periods in the U. S. Army Reserve, Regular Army, and the Army National Guard ever since.

Herrick New S3

The announcement was made by Major John E. Martell, commanding officer, who added that Major Schaedlich is a graduate of Artillery Survey, the Associate Field Artillery Battery Officer Course and the Associate Field Artillery Officer Career Course, at the U. S. Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla. He is employed by IBM as an associate engineer and is married to the former Miss Marguerite Sprenger of Poughkeepsie. They have three children: Carol Lynn 4, Eric Carl 6 and Kristine Marie 3. Major Martell also announced the assignment of Captain Robert T. Herrick, Red Hook, as operations and training staff officer (S3) to succeed Major Schaedlich. Captain Herrick has completed more than 19 years of military service which began with his enlistment in Nov. 1947 in the Vermont National Guard. He has served in a great number of assignments during his military career with the National Guard, Regular Army and the U. S. Army Reserve. He has served as a battery officer in both 40MM and 75MM anti-aircraft artillery units, a company officer in 90MM tank unit, as supply and maintenance staff officer in a logistics command, staff officer in field artillery battalions, communications officer, adjutant and assistant S3.

Captain Herrick is the full-time battalion staff assistant for the local National Guard which position he has occupied since April 1963. He recently completed the Nuclear weapons employment course at Fort Sill, Okla., and is a graduate of the officer basic course, associate anti-aircraft battery course, Fort Bliss, Texas, and the associate field artillery officer career course, Fort Sill, Okla. In addition, he has completed courses in Army logistics management at Fort Lee, Va., and Command and General Staff School active duty courses at Fort Knox and Camp McCoy.

Captain Herrick has been a member of the 156th Artillery since July 1962 when he joined the 1st Battalion as communications officer. Upon the reorganization of the unit and formation of the 2nd Battalion in Poughkeepsie, Captain Herrick accepted appointment as the full-time staff assistant with headquarters at the State armory, 61 Market Street. He is married to the former Miss Jacqueline McCarthy of Pittsford, Vermont. They have five children, Deborah 11, Patricia 10, Susan 7, Pamela 6 and Robert 4½.

DiCicco Reassigned

Another change in officer personnel was made known by Major Martell in his announcement that 1st Lieutenant Dominic A. DiCicco, Franton Drive, Wappingers Falls, who resigned from the New York Army National Guard and was reassigned to the U. S. Army Reserve. Lieutenant DiCicco had served with the local unit as executive officer, Battery A.

Enlistment Quota
In consonance with the following priorities, enlistment quotas for the local National Guard have been allocated on the basis of current strength requirements, and prior approval by Headquarters, 27th Armored Division: Qualified officers of appropriate branch, regardless of unit vacancy.

Qualified veterans or obligors of appropriate branch.
Non-prior service applicants who are officer candidate school qualified and contact for OCS training.

Non-prior service applicants who are officer candidate school qualified but are unwilling to contract for OCS training, and Other qualified applicants.
Major Martell emphasized that there are presently five officer vacancies in the 2nd Battalion and interested individuals should contact him or Captain Herrick at the State Armory for further details.

Casualties Reflect Tactics

VC Mortars Still Claim Big Toll

SAIGON (AP) — Communist mortar attacks raked seven American and Vietnamese positions Wednesday night and today while Red gunners brought down three U.S. warplanes and one helicopter in North and South Vietnam.

Official spokesmen said nine Vietnamese civilians were killed in the mortar attacks. 38 U.S. soldiers were wounded and there were "heavy" casualties at a few isolated Vietnamese outposts.

Includes Women, Children
One South Vietnamese pacification unit of about 50 men was hit hard in the delta.

The civilian dead and wounded included a number of women and children.

One Communist mortar attack also brought down a U.S. helicopter attempting to land at a highland clearing near Pleiku. U.S. casualties were not known yet in Saigon.

The mortar attacks followed the current Communist tactic of inflicting maximum casualties with long-range shelling and avoiding ground battle except where success seemed likely.

The weekly casualty toll announced by U.S. authorities reflected the Communist tactics, listing 175 U.S. dead and 892 wounded last week.

The total of American dead was about average for recent weeks but was 33 per cent more than the average at the same time last year, when far fewer U.S. troops were in Vietnam.

The weekly summary put the Communist death toll at 1,407 last week, somewhat lower than average.

Stiff Pleiku Fight
A U.S. spokesman said that ground contact was infrequent Thursday except in Pleiku Province in the highlands where a brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division was in a stiff fight with a shadowy Communist unit. It was in this action that the helicopter was brought down by mortar fire as it attempted to settle in to a landing zone in the highland brush.

During the past 24 hours the Communists have mortared men of the 4th Division in the highlands, the command post of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade in Tay Ninh Province, on the Cambodian border, the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's base camp at Cu Chi, 25 miles northwest of Saigon, and four South Vietnamese posts in the Mekong Delta below the capital.

Communist gunners in North Vietnam brought down two American warplanes Wednesday and a third went down in the South. The losses brought to 487 the number of planes reported down in the North and 160 reported lost in South Vietnam.

An Air Force spokesman reported American pilots flew 91 missions over North Vietnam Wednesday, striking rail and road communications, storage areas and barges and sampans moving along the coast.

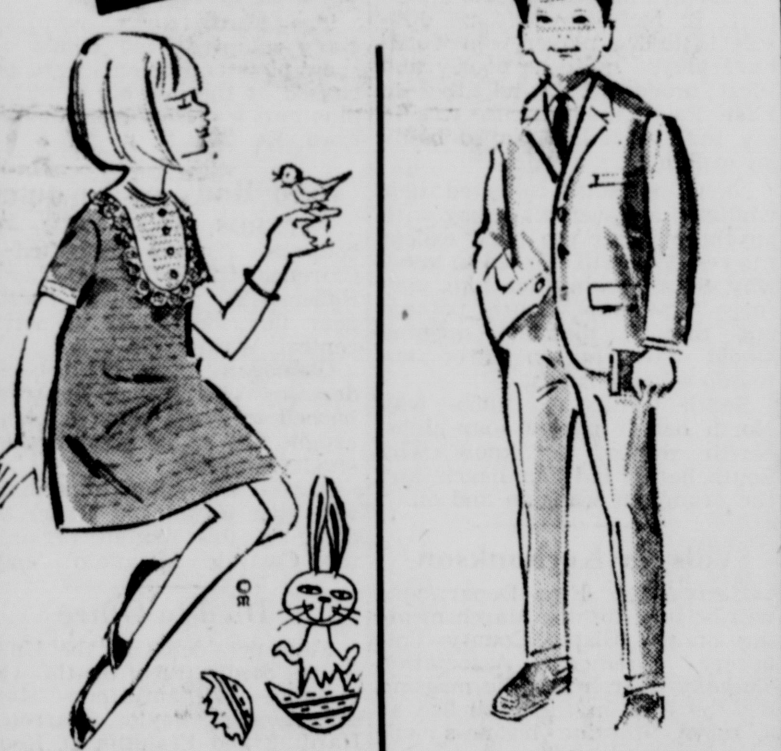

In the South the Australians, who now man only helicopters and transport planes, made their first air strike of the war.

(AT NEW YORK STATE THRUWAY)

More Charges Are Hurlled in Race For Mayor's Post

In a public statement issued today, Attorney William P. Curran, candidate for the office of mayor of the Village of Rosendale, and Village Clerk, Harriet Mulligan, candidate for trustee, running in opposition to Joseph S. Reid and Joseph LaFera, charged, that the present Village Trustee, Reid, violated the laws of the State of New York, and the Constitution of the State of New York, immediately upon taking office, and in violation of Section 128 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law of the State of New York.

To be specific, Attorney Curran and Mrs. Mulligan, explained it in this manner. Reid took his oath of office to uphold the laws of the State of New York, and the Constitution of the State of New York, upon assuming office. He has been during the past year and is presently a holder of a New York State Liquor License, to sell alcoholic beverages, in the operation of his hotel, on Main Street.

According to the opinion and interpretation of both the Attorney General of the State of New York and the Comptroller of the State of New York, Section 128 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Laws of the State of New York makes it a misdemeanor for a trustee or a mayor of an incorporated village to hold a liquor license at the same time. The section of the law deals with the prohibition and the making it a crime, for the police department or an official, commissioner, or person associated with the running of the police department, to be involved in the distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages.

The opinion of the attorney general and the comptroller, is based upon the fact that the trustees of the village appoint the policemen, and have a certain amount of control over their operation. A mayor of a village is the head of the policemen and police department of the village. The Village of Rosendale, while not having a civil service type organized police department, has approximately five policemen, who carry out the duties as peace officers, and are under the direction of the mayor, and the village board of trustees. The opinions of the comptroller and the attorney general, were unequivocally clear, in that in their opinion it is a crime, for a licensed person to hold the office of trustee or mayor of an incorporated village.

In commenting upon this, Attorney Curran said that Reid's position, regarding this law, "is typical of him in that he has flagrantly disregarded it, during the past year, when he took the office and served as a village trustee, and now desires to even more flagrantly violate it, in desiring to be mayor, and head of the village police force, and continuing to be licensed to sell alcoholic beverages. The philosophy and theory of the legislature in adopting this section was to disassociate the alcoholic beverage industry completely, with the enforcement of the law, which separation over the years, has proved to be in the best interest of the welfare of the people and law enforcement as a whole. There have been no exceptions to this long standing rule."

In further commenting, Attorney Curran said that Reid was well aware of this section, when he took office and when he sought office a year ago. It was brought to Mr. Reid's attention, when the late Joseph P. Bianco was nominated to be mayor, and withdrew from the race a few days before election when this section was brought to his attention. Reid, who was then chairman of the party in Rosendale was advised of the reason for this action, and thereupon, Mrs. Catherine A. O'Leary was nominated and elected to the office of mayor.

Attorney Curran said that while no one has prosecuted Reid during the past year, it being necessary to file a formal complaint before a magistrate, Reid "obviously has no respect for the laws of the State of New York, in this flagrant violation and disregard."

Not So Uncivilized

Mexico's Aztec civilization was believed by many to be cruel and uncivilized, but Aztec children were taught courtesy and self-control early in their youth, and young men who became intoxicated or who squandered their father's money were put to death.

of those weak jump over-calls designed to crowd the opponent's bidding. North would have liked to double but North was using one of those special expert gadgets. His double would be for takeout, not business. South tried a three-heart bid and eventually wound up at five clubs doubled.

East put his ace of diamonds on dummy's king, after he thought awhile he decided that West had opened a singleton and returned the suit. South discarded his losing spade on dummy's queen and led dummy's jack of hearts. East ducked and the jack held. The deuce of hearts was played next and when East played the six, South stuck in his nine.

West ruffed and led a diamond, whereupon South ruffed, drew trumps with two leads, cashed his ace of hearts, ruffed a heart and claimed his contract.

East had not played like an expert. In fact, it would be difficult to find a player who would have played quite as poorly and West proceeded to tell this to East. East's only defense was to say that West had played badly all evening.

North and South collected their winnings but weren't happy with anything about the hand except the result. North wanted to know why South hadn't let him play three no-trump. South pointed out that a diamond opening would have beaten three no-trump several tricks.

South wanted to know why North hadn't passed four clubs. North wanted to know why South hadn't bid four hearts and the argument went on and on.

Paltz Town Puts Two New Dump Trucks to Work

Two new Ford F-950 dump trucks went into service in the Town of New Paltz this week. The specially equipped trucks were delivered by Philip Scraggs of Johnson Ford, Inc., of Kingston, the low bidder.

Town officials on hand for the delivery of the trucks included Supervisor Peter Savago, Dave Decker, who maintains mechanical equipment; Ike Pole, road superintendent and Ted Lasher, town clerk.

The Ford trucks, with specially adapted Heil bodies and snow plow equipment, were purchased at the low bid of $21,200 plus two trade-ins from Johnson Ford, Rt. 28.

Find Body of Upstater

PATEROS, Wash. (AP)—The body of a man identified as Clarence O. Rader of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was found Tuesday near this community in north-central Washington.

Okanogan County sheriff's deputies said Rader apparently burned to death when a blanket caught fire as he slept beside a small campfire.

Fear 'Blackboard Jungle' Spreading in N.Y.

Education Threatened; No One Master Villain

NEW YORK (AP) — It was in New York in 1954 that ex-school-teacher Evan Hunter described the city's classrooms—already crowded with the angry children of the poor and increasingly the arena for teen-age savagery—as "the blackboard jungle."

Today the fear is growing that the jungle is spreading, threatening to obliterate the education of many, along with all that education means to their hope of a better future.

Starts in Bronx

This week New York witnessed one of the most distressing aspects of the battle for young minds when former comrades-in-arms against the jungle instead took aim at each other.

On Tuesday, 79 teachers at Junior High School 98 in the Bronx resigned, accusing the New York City Board of Education of failing to alleviate overcrowding, overwork and student assaults upon teachers.

In an astonishingly rapid and widespread display of sympathy, more than 1,000 teachers from all over the city rallied the next day, echoing the complaints from "98 Bronx," promising protest pickets and urging school boycotts, teachers' union strikes and mass resignations.

School officials expressed dismay stressed their claim that they have tried to ease the lot of teachers and then announced—as boards of education must—several officials suggested—that they would deal firmly with the rebel teachers, that they phenomenon. The most crowded of the city's five boroughs, it had long been the first stop and final home of immigrants. Southern Negroes and Puerto Ricans who have come to make up much of the city's population.

As the population has soared, the city's disadvantaged neighborhoods—with language problems, high joblessness and welfare costs and rising crime rates—have spread, beyond Harlem and Spanish Harlem to Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx.

The Board of Education announced on Monday that for the first time in city history, Negro and Puerto Rican pupils were in the majority in the public schools—50.2 per cent city-wide, as compared with 31.7 per cent a decade ago.

Dr. Nathan Brown, executive deputy superintendent of schools, said the figures "were no surprise," adding that the increasing ethnic upheavals "makes it more difficult for us to provide the kind of integrated education that we would like to provide for every section in the city."

While Manhattan, at around 70 per cent, still held the lead in Negro-Puerto Rican school population, the Bronx had 45.6 per cent as of the October 1966 count.

And 98 Bronx itself is 77 per cent Puerto Rican and 1 per cent Negro.

A large, squat concrete structure, 98 Bronx broods like a fortress over row upon row of streets filled with three- and four-story brick tenements. The streets teem with children, even on winter days.

Built to hold 1,598 students, 98 Bronx currently has about 2,000 enrolled and 200 more scheduled for next September, with a teaching staff of 126.

'Not Fear School'

Its principal, Dr. James L. Mandell, says: "This is not a terror or fear school." There have been 13 assaults in this school year, he says, "and all can be characterized as minor, requiring no medical attention."

Then he adds: "Even one is too many, of course, but 13 assaults out of an enrollment of 2,000 doesn't seem excessive in this city."

Mandell says teacher absenteeism has risen rapidly in his school in recent months, to roughly twice the city average, and that this has thrown extra work onto those teachers who do report for work.

Besides assaults, the other major complaint of the resigned teachers was of "coverages"—being required to take on extra classes, at no extra pay, when regular teachers were absent and substitutes were not available.

And the complaints were not confined to 98 Bronx. At Wednesday's protest meeting, led by officials of the United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, teachers from more than a dozen other schools throughout the city charged officials with bad faith in observing the contract in not providing substitutes, in imposing coverages on already-burdened teachers, in not adequately punishing assault cases.

Teacher after teacher stressed a common theme. That a disruptive minority robs the cooperative majority of a chance to learn.

Charles Shebar, an English and social studies teacher who said 75 teachers at Junior High School 126 in the Bronx were also ready to resign, drew cheers and prolonged applause when he read from an impassioned statement.

Children Assault Children

He said: "The most obvious and saddest result of this neglect is the presence of a group of disruptive children for whom there are no services provided.

These students assault other children, disrupt classes, destroy school and student property, assault and defy teachers and make it impossible to instruct the vast majority who are ready and anxious to learn. They need help which our very overcrowded, understaffed school can't provide. We cannot continue under these conditions."

A statement by the city superintendent of schools, Bernard E. Donovan, in which he ordered the teachers' return to 98 Bronx, expressed a concern identical to that of the rebels.

Said Donovan: "Our pupils can ill-afford the loss of a single day, especially in a disadvantaged area. Public statements by the United Federation of Teachers describing the school as 'terror-ridden' and as a 'jungle school' reflect adversely and unjustly on the vast majority of our teachers as well as upon the children whom we are all trying to teach."

Former JFK Advisors Make Big Changes in Mutual Fund

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some former aides of President Kennedy who formed a mutual fund to sell shares in American business and real estate to foreigners have now made some basic changes, partly as a result of criticism.

Even though the operation, the United States Investment Fund, is less than a year old it had become embroiled in the wide, general criticism of the mutual fund industry. And specific criticisms were leveled

Changes in Secrecy

No longer will the fund, based in the Bahamas, accept accounts designated by numbers rather than by name. No longer will it reinvest in other mutual funds, a practice criticized as costly to investors.

Both these practices are legal and, in fact, widely used in foreign financial operations. The atmosphere, however, is becoming charged with adverse criticism.

The Kennedy aides, former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger among them, also felt desirous of obtaining an early reputation for mutual fund reform, in line with recommendations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. They were equally desirous of avoiding the derailment of a potentially profitable worldwide venture.

Old Story

The story of the former presidential aides and their mutual fund goes back several years.

Headquarters were set up in Nassau, the Bahamas, where there are no local income, sales or inheritance taxes and where, of course, American taxes do not apply.

Shortly thereafter, the SEC filed its highly critical report on mutual funds.

Among other things, the SEC criticized mutual fund holding To pay a commission to a mutual fund that in turn paid a commission to another mutual fund was not good practice, the SEC said.

The fund, therefore, eliminated its mutual fund portfolio, the first to publicly announce such a move, an announcement scheduled to have been made at the meeting in Nassau next month.

Trimmed of some problems, the fund officers now are emphasizing the real estate portfolio, which they claim is unique among funds.

LWV Meets With April Delegates

Delegates to the Constitutional Convention from the 38th District and members of the League of Women Voters of Woodstock, Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties and Poughkeepsie discussed some of the most important questions which will come before the convention next April at a sherry hour held in the lounge of the Fine Arts Gallery, New Paltz, March 12.

The League presented Mr. H. C. Bell and Mr. S. J. Matthews with portfolios containing their program for Constitutional Revision at the 1967 convention. The League is seeking court and election law reforms and standards which prevent gerrymandering in the drawing of legislative district lines.

Modernization Plea

The League urged the delegates to recognize the need for modernization of the constitution so that New York State can meet the needs of its citizens in the years to come. "We must remove the straitjackets from our governor and our legislators," a League spokesman said, "so that they can govern effectively. Unless state government is able to provide the services needed, the federal government will fill the vacuum. Many states are looking to New York for leadership. This may be our last chance to preserve the state as an effective partner in the federal system of government."

The League program also pointed out that the present method of selecting judges by partisan, political nomination is unsatisfactory and should be abandoned. "The Judiciary, unlike the Executive and Legislative branches of government, should not be susceptible to political pressures," the League said. "Judges should be selected on the basis of merit alone. A non-partisan nominating committee should recommend them for appointment by the Governor or local officials. After the judge has been on the bench for a time, the people should have the chance to say whether or not he should be continued in office."

Other Proposals

Other Judicial reforms proposed by the League include the abolition of the Court of Claims and the Surrogate's Court as separate courts and the replacement of city, town and village courts by the District Court. It also believes that since the Judiciary is a branch of State government, all court expenses should be paid by the State.

The "one man-one vote" decision of the U. S. Supreme Court was discussed at length by the League and the delegates. This decision, which made New York's present method of choosing Senators and Assemblymen obsolete, was one of the chief reasons for calling the Constitutional Convention. The League urged the delegates to resist efforts to set up district lines in the Constitution. "Standards should be written into the Constitution," a spokesman insisted, "which will assure fair representation and prevent gerrymandering." The League believes that county lines should be followed as far as possible in defining district lines. It is opposed to weighted voting and feels that each district should be represented by a single legislator with one vote.

In discussing the Election Law, League members pointed out that the organization's concern with the right to vote and the protection of the franchise, dated back to the beginning of the League. "We believe that a permanent June Primary date should be set by the Constitution," another spokesman said, "in order to prevent shifting of this date for partisan advantage." The League also supports continuation of the 21 year voting age.

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Police in Vermont's largest city have decided to put the new police under surveillance.

Police Chief Arthur Carron says continued vandalism at the new building will necessitate closer monitoring of the area by patrolmen.

Vandals have been breaking the windows of the new police station as fast as they are installed.

Buffalo Proposal

Term Legalizing Of Marijuana as Bainless Plan

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A State University at Buffalo student group seeking to legalize marijuana represents a "bainless local movement," city Mayor Frank A. Sedita contends.

"The use of marijuana is a dangerous habit - not an exercise in civil liberty," Sedita said Wednesday.

Score LEMAR

The mayor commented during a Federal Bureau of Narcotics seminar in which the student group, known as LEMAR, was criticized sharply by government officials. The session was attended by 225 Upstate New York and Canadian police officers.

LEMAR stands for Legalize Marijuana. The group's activities were "disgusting to every law-enforcement officer and decent citizen," Sheriff B. John Tutuska of Erie County said.

Marijuana represents a problem in fighting narcotic addiction, mainly because "you associate with persons who use heroin when you purchase marijuana," Patrick P. Carroll, assistant commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, said.

He said a New York City study indicated that 96 per cent of a group of Harlem youngsters using heroin began their use of narcotics by smoking marijuana.

Sold Illegally

Forty to 50 per cent of amphetamines and barbiturates produced now were being sold illegally in the wrong places and to the wrong people, said Edward T. Kelly, director of the New York Field Office, Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, Food & Drug Administration.

This growing concern over the misuse of drugs that have legitimate medical purposes led to the creation of the bureau last March, he added. The bureau plans to open a branch office with three agents in Buffalo in May or June, Kelly said.

Jackson, Miss., was invaded three times by Union forces during the Civil War.

Paltz Center Given Grant

A special purpose grant of $2,000 under Title II E.S.E.A. has been awarded the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, Ulster County B.O.C.E.S., New Paltz.

Frank Stevens, chief, Bureau of School Libraries, State Education Department, Albany, has notified Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon that the Mid-Hudson Title III office is being allocated funds to acquire selected research reference aids for the purpose of establishing a basic professional reference collection of books, periodicals, and pamphlets.

The special grant enables purchase of material which will be of significant value to all teachers, administrators, and other school personnel as they prepare and write proposals, especially those projects, funded under E.S.E.A. Title III. Dr. Kenyon in acknowledging the grant stated, "The reference collection will be housed in the Regional Center and will be readily available to anyone who desires to use it to develop innovative programs and services under E.S.E.A. Higher Education Act. This special money enables us to add another service offered by the Mid-Hudson Regional Educational Center."

Will Restore Depot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nostalgic San Francisco is about to spend $80,000 to restore the cattle car barn to its 1878 gaslight look.

The San Francisco Public Utilities Commission has ordered the depot at Washington and Mason Streets returned to its original appearance.

Sandblasting will remove the paint down to the original brick; gaslights will be installed at the entrance. A duplicate of the awning destroyed in the 1906 earthquake and fire will be fitted.

The disastrous Alaskan earthquake occurred March 27, 1964.

Although gross farm income has been rising, so have farm production expenses. The result, according to Department of Agriculture statistics, is that there has been little change in net farm income in recent years. General prosperity throughout the economy has not been reflected on the farms.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

Mr. Baggot stopped in the other day and we talked about the previous antique shows he and his wife held for the Ulster County Association for Mental Health. Mrs. Tom. A Baggot of 93 Lucas Avenue is the chairman for the coming June 10th, 1967, at the Dietz Stadium. It will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. As a rule many items of historic interest, such as books, pictures, post cards are brought to the show by dealers, besides jewelry, old silver, glass, wooden items, furniture, old farm implements and such.

A short time ago I wrote about the Light Brigade, from a reproduction of the New York Daily Times dated Nov. 27, 1854 given me by a reader. Recently a bank official gave me a collection of 16 historic front pages which are authentic reproductions of events which changed the course of history. One front page reads: "Lusitania sunk by a submarine, probably 1,200 dead; twice torpedoed off Irish coast; sinks in 15 minutes; Capt. Turner saved, Frohman and Vanderbilt missing." There is also a six column wide picture of the Lusitania.

One of the passengers listed on the front page of the Saturday, May 4, 1915 New York Times was S. Abramowitz. In years to come Mr. Abramowitz owned the handsome mansion and estate at 195 Albany avenue, which was recently taken down to build the Wiltwyck Gardens for the elderly. I would say it was in the family until sold for this project, for the son carefully removed and took down the mansion. Mr. S. Abramowitz Sr. died about 20 years ago. It is said the life-saver of the Lusitania which saved his life hung in a prominent place in his home on Albany Avenue. They were a very interesting and hospitable family, when they lived altogether in the Abramowitz Mansion and had many friends.

I knew the two daughters, and remember several visits there. They had a large ballroom downstairs and a magnificent chandelier and stair-cases leading to the upper floor, and wings and terraces on the house, with land all around. The Abramowitz sons had horses and were excellent riders, and would think nothing of jumping over the stone wall when arriving home.

The father and mother, as I remember, spoke a number of languages fluently, but the entire family spoke French well, as they had lived in France, and were in the fur business. Abramowitz traveled a great deal and his knowledge of many languages made him at home in many countries. I just wonder how our high school French, taught by a teacher who was not a native Frenchwoman, appealed to the Abramowitz children. I notice amateur teachers who do not think in a language often try to cover up their inability to speak it fluently by pressing grammar and sentence structure on the students. I have been in such classes—what a waste of taxpayers' money. Many years ago I visited a conversational French class at Carnegie Hall, to which admission was only 25 cents for an afternoon, run by a native Frenchman. It is remarkable how one could walk out of there with a number of usable French words. If one wants to learn a foreign language, one must speak it, and learn it from a native voice, not from a book-taught teacher. A child learns words first, then sentences, if he wishes to use them; grammar comes much later.

Our expensive brick structures and licensed teachers for which the taxpayers cannot pay without denying themselves bare necessities are having a difficult time teaching students just to read English, mind you. You now hear this talk of remedial reading. Perhaps they should have them read on the school buses, they spend so much time, and our money, on them.

Diabetes Group Hears Research, Voting April 13

The effect of hormones, steroids and immuno acid upon the blood insulin of diabetics and non-diabetics were considered principally, when Dr. Sheldon J. Bleicher spoke on the topic of Frontiers in Diabetes Research before a meeting of the Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association last week at Benedictine School of Nursing Auditorium.

Slides Tell Story

Dr. Bleicher is physician-in-charge, Metabolic Research Unit, Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn. He is assistant attending physician, Kings County Hospital and assistant professor of Medicine, Downstate Medical Center, State University of New York.

Dr. Bleicher's talk was informative and was explained further by the use of slides, the information having been observed through research for the past year and a half. Through research the use of diuretics have been found valuable in the treatment of persons with a constant low blood sugar level. "The Vietnam situation has reduced the progress of research immeasurably," said Dr. Bleicher, "both in the area of available chemists and material which is allocated toward the war effort."

An interesting question and answer session followed the meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Begley and Mrs. Frances Bilyou.

Samples of drugs and literature for the diabetic were exhibited and distributed at the meeting by Peter Signorelli Jr., a representative of the Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Mich. Material concerning Medic Alert and pamphlets edited by the American Diabetes Association, Inc., were also exhibited.

A short business meeting preceded Dr. Bleicher's program and was called to order by Chairman Robert Begley of Hurley. Mrs. Jack Ostrander, Kingston, recording secretary, read the minutes of the Feb. 22 meeting. Arthur D. Korff Jr., Saugerties, treasurer, gave the financial report. George Christian, Kingston, vice chairman, announced election of officers will be held at the April 13 meeting. Further information will be released upon the completion of the program for April. Dr. Jerome Knittle will be the speaker in May when the organization will hold a dinner meeting. A picnic is planned for summer for members and their families.

Since much interest in the diabetic discussion groups is evident, Ulster Chapter, NYDA will be sponsoring in the immediate future these sessions with time and place of meetings to be announced. Christian said the groups will be in the following three categories: The Juvenile Diabetic, the unstable Adult Diabetic and those who are receiving oral therapy through Orinase, Diabinese, Dymelor, DBI-TD or DBI.

Step Up Defoliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is stepping up its program of using defoliants and herbicides in Vietnam to deny the enemy cover for his activities and crops for his food needs.

In response to questions the Pentagon said Tuesday the chemicals used are not harmful to humans or animals and do not render the soil unfit for future vegetation.

Defoliation "routinely improves" visibility in jungled areas by 80 per cent and eliminates many potential ambush sites, the Pentagon said. Crop killers are also used on Communist-held rice-growing areas.

Find Diamond Made by Impact Of Meteorite

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Three General Electric scientists have identified a type of diamond they say is produced in a meteorite's impact with earth.

The diamonds, small and opaque, are similar to the man-made diamonds manufactured in laboratories, the scientists said.

The diamonds are of hexagonal crystal structure, different from the cubic structure of the type of diamonds used in rings.

Diamonds are manufactured in the laboratory by using intense pressure and high temperatures.

Similar conditions were produced in a meteorite's collision with earth, the scientists said, and experiments showed that a similar type of diamond is formed.

The collision theory would account for the diamonds that have been noted in the past on the moon's surface, the scientists said.

The scientists, Dr. Francis P. Bundy, Dr. Herbert M. Strong, and Dr. Rodney E. Hanneman, published their findings in a recent issue of the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of science.

Wearing Ring

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Princess Benedikte wore today an engagement ring given her by German Prince Richard zu Sayn-Wittgenstein. Only an official announcement was lacking.

The 23-year-old princess posed for photographers Tuesday at Amalienborg Palace with the 32-year-old prince.

Our book needs one more chapter.

Savings Banks are ready and willing to serve you even better as soon as the state banking law says "yes" to personal loans.

THE Savings Banks of New York State are strictly people-banks.

They're in business to help individuals and their families solve their financial problems.

They make mortgage loans — student loans — home improvement loans — pass-book loans.

New York State Savings Banks have lent more money to people than all the other banks in the state combined.

So much for loans already made.

The missing chapter

Now Savings Banks would like to serve you even better by adding the missing chapter to their "book". They'd like to make needed general purpose personal loans — to their depositors and the people whose mortgages they hold.

Savings Banks in other states—including near-neighbors Connecticut and Massachusetts — have made personal loans for years. This service has won widespread public approval and acceptance.

Where Savings Banks make personal loans, many borrowers become savers later. People can conduct their entire money management program in an atmosphere that encourages thrift, not further borrowing. They are free to borrow where they save, save where they borrow.

Hold down loan costs

The borrowing public is entitled to the lower costs and improved services that invariably result from free and open competition. Savings Bank competition in consumer lending can help hold down the cost of personal loans in New York State.

Savings Banks are ready, willing and uniquely prepared to make personal loans as soon as the New York State banking law is changed to permit it.

We are confident that this permission will soon be given.

A new law needed

We are confident that our State Legislature will add to its record of progress by passing a forward-looking Savings Bank personal loans bill, and allow Savings Banks to give more and better service to the people of New York State.

Barring Newsmen At Preliminary Hearing Upheld

By HOWARD CLARK
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An appellate court held today that a judge could bar news media from a pre-trial hearing to determine the voluntariness of a defendant's confession.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, also ruled that confessions on whether confessions were voluntary "should not be made public prior to the determination of the action."

The court, which has jurisdiction in 28 Upstate counties, did not elaborate on the meaning of "the action."

The ruling came in the court's decision on a motion asking a change of venue in a first-degree murder and rape indictment against Ronnie Lee Pratt, 34, of Binghamton, Broome County.

The court granted the motion. Pratt's lawyer, in a pre-trial hearing, had moved to suppress written and oral statements given to police by Pratt.

Prior to the Broome County hearing to determine whether the statements were voluntary, the defendant asked that the press and the public be excluded. The judge denied the motion. After the hearing, the findings of the court said, the findings were given wide and some of the newspapers described the statements and the testimony. The court said, "the production of the hearing and the public determination made by the judge on the voluntariness of the alleged statements of the defendant have created a reasonable probability of prejudice."

The court the right to waive a public hearing.

The court held that the hearing on the voluntariness of the confession should be closed. But the defendant so asks. But whether or not the hearing is closed, the court said, the decision of the judge should not be made public at that time.

The court said it was not "critical of the press following the hearing" for Pratt.

"They have an inviolate right to publish any and all reports of public trials and hearings," the court said. "Once a judge permits the press to attend a hearing, he can in no way censor their reports of the actual proceedings in open court."

Tough Luck Is An Old Friend To Imogene Coca

By BOB THOMAS
AP HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Come Imogene Coca has a knack for becoming involved in disasters. Such as starring in a television series called "It's About Time."

About the bloodhound. She had always wanted one, and husband King Donovan located a likely pup for her to size up. Puppies grew to the size of a small horse, and it charged through the living room of the Donovans' hillside house like a runaway freight.

"The main trouble is with our standard boodle, who has decided it has to kill the bloodhound," said Miss Coca. "They had one encounter on my bed while I was in it, and I was nervous."

"Now we keep them at one end of the house, I'm terrified they'll get out and I'll be caught in the middle again."

Miss Coca seems willing to go along with such a situation, just as she went along with "It's About Time," which some critics termed the worst television series of this—and perhaps any—season. The show concerned two astronauts who crashed amid time barrier and landed amid cave men. Reviewers deplored the waste of Miss Coca as a pre-seen in a re-creation of the historic "Your Show of Shows." The broadcast is ponderously titled "The Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Social."

South Bay Water Followers Annual Antique Decoy Show.

Discuss LL Baseball

The Phoenixia Little League Committee met at the Phoenixia Elementary School March 9. President Paul Herdman of Big Indian presided. Reports were read from committees and plans were formulated for the notification of parents to attend the meeting and take a more active part in the Little League activities and to assist in the final stages of the actual team formation. Herdman lauded the response to financial assistance from various clubs and persons in the town. Next meeting will be held March 23 at 8 p. m. at the Phoenixia Elementary School.

Note Girl Scout Week

March 11-17 is Girl Scout Week. The Girl Scouts have an eye-catching display in the window of Gordon's Store. Dolls dressed in costumes of foreign lands depict unity of Girl Scouts all over the world. Slogans and Girl Scout mottoes are presented encouraging friendship and unity. The Girl Scouts were in the cookie booth at the Phoenixia P-TA meeting at the Phoenixia Elementary School Wednesday. At this meeting, a salute to the flag was led by Brownies Carol Maroney and Mary Lou Burgess and Girl Scouts Linda Faulkner and Peggy Ford.

Scouts Hold Court

Troop 60 Boy Scouts held their regular weekly meeting last Thursday and plans were made for the Court of Honor which will be held tonight at Phoenixia Elementary School. Recognition will be given to the following Tenderfoot Scouts: John Rodgers, Stewart Schlessinger and Timothy Short. A written test on Marksmanship was given by Committeeman Henry Bernstein, conservation officer, to the scouts and all participating scouts passed with high marks.

The Committee of Cub Pack 60 met at the home of Mrs. Pat Rowe of Chichester March 9. Mrs. Rowe, the den mother, was joined by four other mothers, two committeemen and two guests, Mrs. Vivian Bernstein and James Herreran of Phoenixia.

Fire Leaders Meet

The fire commissioners of the Phoenixia Fire District recently met in its regular monthly meeting at the Fire Station at Phoenia. The following Fire Commissioners were present, George Marinor, chairman of the board; Reese Smith, Mt. Tremper; Elmer Loveless, Phoenixia; Ralph Kirk, treasurer and Charles Gustafson, secretary.

Treasurer Kirk gave the annual treasurer's report. April 5 was set for the next fire commissioners meeting at which time, nominations for district chief and deputy chiefs will be received and voted on during the following meeting in May. Fire Commissioner Vincent Somerville of Chichester was absent due to storm alert for highway maintenance.

Scouts at Plaza

Saturday, March 18, Troop 190, Girl Scouts will be taken to Kingston Plaza Shopping Center parking lot where senior Girl Scouts will have a model camp site on display and will answer questions on Girl Scouting, camping and other pertinent questions. The troop under the direction of Mrs. Robert Maroney, leader and Mrs. Robert Cross, assistant leader, accompanied by a parent, Mrs. Joan Bryant, will make the trip by private cars, spending the day at the plaza.

There will be a meeting of the Onteora Neighborhood Council of Girl Scouts tonight at the home of Mrs. Eugene B. Gormley III of Phoenixia. This will be a leader's meeting under the direction of Mrs. Pat Malloy of Onteora Council.

Winter Carnival Plans at KHS; Set for Saturday

The annual Kingston High School winter carnival will be held on Saturday, March 18 at the Kate Walton Field House. The carnival will be opened from 1-5 p. m. for the grade school children and from 7-11 in the evening for high school students.

During the afternoon, various programs will be provided. The Junior League of Kingston has scheduled a play, "Young Tom Edison," which will be held in the school auditorium from 2 to 3:30. There will be no admission charge. At the carnival, there will be games and all kinds of refreshments. The Student Council will have a "haunted house" and a bicycle will be awarded.

The evening festivities, in addition to the games and refreshments, will include dancing to continuous music provided by "Bartholomew and The Barbarians" and "The Lost Souls." A "Slave Auction" will be held where the cheerleaders will be sold. The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of a king and queen.

Field Trip Is Planned

An invitation is extended to anyone interested to join the members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society on a walk Sunday, March 19. The group will meet at 2 p. m. at the Gate House, the entrance to Mohonk Lake, on Mountain Rest Road, between New Paltz and High Falls. Transportation will be provided to the Mountain House.

The leader for this trip will be Dan Smiley of Lake Mohonk. He will teach those attending to recognize 10 trees in winter dress and he will tell something about trees in the web of life.

This will be a very informative walk and those who are interested in studying trees should be sure to attend.

On Wednesday, March 22 at 8 p. m., the regular meeting of the John Burroughs Natural History Society will be held in the Community Room of the First National Bank of Highland, 191 Main Street, New Paltz, corner of Manheim Boulevard. Turn north at the traffic light, and park in back; entrance is on Manheim Boulevard. After the meeting, Al Feldman will show slides and speak on Mushrooms in the Mid-Hudson Valley. Guests are welcome.

IBM EXECUTIVE IS UCBPW SPEAKER—There isn't a job in IBM which couldn't be filled by a woman, George Tamke, general manager of the Kingston IBM plant told members of the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night. Speaking about "Economic Opportunities for Women," Mr. Tamke outlined job categories and stressed the importance of women obtaining proper training and education. "There isn't a lack of job opportunities, there's a lack of qualified women to fill the jobs," Tamke stated. He crystallized his statement by citing statistics for the major professions. In a question and answer session, Mr. Tamke commended the club saying, "you can be a moving force in the community." Pictured with Mr. Tamke prior to the dinner are (l-r) Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel, club president; and Miss Charlotte McGraw, first vice president and program chairman. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Some Tips for Teen Party-Givers

The questions about giving (and going to) parties are endless. The following quiz may answer some of those that teenagers face when they plan to entertain.

1. Party crashers may sometimes be invited in to the party. True—False—
2. Chaperoning parents must remain in or next to the room where the party is held. True—False—
3. The best way to get a party going is to suggest playing games. True—False—
4. When boys sneak liquor into a party, it should be confiscated by chaperones when it is discovered. True—False—
5. When a girl finds herself a "wallflower" at a dance, she should retire to the ladies' room. True—False—

6. The best way to get people to leave is to turn out the lights. True—False—
7. Good, fast music is the best way to keep a party "on its feet." True—False—
8. The presence of a policeman at a large party is often a help to the chaperones. True—False—

If you chose the right answer for more than six questions, you will have few problems when you ask the gang over. If you missed more than three, you had better check your party-giving know-how before you entertain again.

1. True. If they are decently dressed, well-behaved, and know the hostess or one of the guests, it is better to ask them in than to cause a ruckus.
2. False. Parents, after making their presence known by greeting the guests, should disappear—upstairs or out-of-sight.
3. False. The best way to get a party going is to play some rock n' roll music.
4. True. It should be returned to the boys after the party if they are of legal drinking age; otherwise their parents should be notified and the liquor given to them.
5. False. If she is hopeless, she should call her parents or a cab and go home.
6. False. Turning out the lights may just turn the party into a make-out session. Try shutting off the drinks, or ask a good friend to start the move. Finally, if you're desperate, ask your parents to appear.
7. True.
8. True. Just the sight of the uniform scares off crashers and those sneaking liquor in.

Should Shower Gifts Be Returned When Wedding Is Postponed

Dear Mrs. Post: I was to be married in February but the wedding has had to be postponed until spring or early summer. Some of the girls gave me a shower. Should I return the gifts or do I send each of them a short note saying that the wedding has been postponed and keep the gifts? I know that if the wedding were cancelled that I would return them, but what do I do in this case? — Roberta

Dear Roberta: Since your wedding is postponed, not cancelled, I see no reason to return your shower gifts. Presumably the girls would still want you to have them whenever the wedding takes place. In fact, there's no need to notify them if you see the shower guests simply tell them you have put the gifts away carefully until you can use them.

Mr. and Mrs. on All Wedding Envelopes

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my husband and I received an invitation to a wedding and reception in the commonly used printed form, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, request the honor of your presence," etc. However, the enclosed response card was addressed only to "Mrs. John Doe." Since I have never seen this done before, can you tell me if this is a new and correct procedure? — Mrs. Clark

Dear Mrs. Clark: As many of you may know, I do not approve of engraved answer cards for wedding receptions at all. However, for those of you who wish to include them, the envelope should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs."

MJM School Sets Student Talent Show for Friday

The Myron J. Michael Junior High School Student Council will present its annual talent show on Friday, March 17 at 8:15 p. m. in the school's gymnasium.

The program will feature entries in four divisions: solo, ensemble, band and variety. Kathy Quick and Edward Brown will share credits as master of ceremonies.

Five MJM faculty members will serve as judges and score each entry under five categories: stage presence, technical skill, artistic ability, entrance and exit, and audience reaction.

At the conclusion of the program, winners will be announced and prizes will be awarded. Trophies will be presented to first-place winners in each division. Moreover, a trophy will be awarded for the "best act of the show." All other contestants will receive Certificates of Participation.

Admission tickets, may be purchased at the door or from any student council homeroom representative.

Girl Scout News

Junior Girl Scout Troop 35 of Lake Katrine devoted January and February to meeting the requirements of the My Trefoil Badge and learning about the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides.

The girls spent time and effort in a program of patrol scrapbooks, skits and songs which helped them meet the requirements for the badge. The first year juniors of the troop earned their World Association Pins on a program of maps, posters and greetings in other languages.

Mrs. Hazel Castle, RN led one meeting during February and helped the girls complete several of the requirements for the Health Aid and Personal Health badges. The troop is now planning an active outdoor program for the spring months including hikes and cookouts. Troop 35 is led by Mrs. H. P. Hoffman and Mrs. George Ljutic.

Junior Troop 158 had a badge award meeting recently. Badges earned by the troop included My Home, Collector, Storyteller, Drawing and Painting, Needlecraft and Observer, also Pen Pal, Sewing and Housekeeper. Junior Troop 158 is led by Mrs. Joseph Iannotti. Junior Troop 158 also joined with the troops at the Chambers School Browne Troop 151, led by Mrs. Willard Goodheim, and Junior Troop 150, led by Mrs. Nedra Nestyanek, in setting up a Girl Scout Exhibit in celebration of the Girl Scouts 55th anniversary.

Members of Junior Troop 166 have started a pen pal project. Through a chance encounter while vacationing in Puerto Rico, their leader Mrs. Stanley London, met a group of juniors from that island. The leaders compared notes and agreed to exchange ideas between the troops by setting up a correspondence between the scouts. This should prove to be an interesting project to all of the girls participating.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS — The Sweet Adeline's singing group at a session this week in Brigham School No. 6 welcomed several new members to the organization. A special guest night is scheduled by the group on March 21.

99th Birthday For John Saban

John Saban, who has lived in Kingston most of his life, observed his 99th birthday on Wednesday, March 15. He is now residing with his son John Jr., in Rensselaer.

Mr. Saban has four other children: Mrs. Brownie Swiecz of Kingston; Mrs. Michael Weider of Pittsfield, Mass.; Martin Saban of Saugerties; and Mrs. Mary Swenson of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Saban has six grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

GOOD WILL PROGRAM GAINS HEADWAY — Teenage volunteers will meet in the school hall of St. Mary's parish, Kingston, Thursday night, for the purpose of consolidating several parish groups into one organization which will provide programming for patients in local area nursing homes. Discussing the project which is called "Apostles of Good Will," are (l-r) seated, Sister M. Chrysostom, Mrs. James Quigley, co-chairman of St. Mary's parish group, Sister M. Monica; rear (l-r) Miss Carol Bailey, chairman of teenage volunteers; Sister Mary Patricia; and Mrs. Frank Graney, favor chairman. The nuns escort the teenage groups when they visit the nursing homes. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

In College Production

Miss Nancy J. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Miller, 72 Pine Street, has been named to the dean's list of distinguished students for the coming semester according to announcement by Robert B. Morris, Dean of the University College, State University of New York at Albany.

Miss Miller is an honor graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1966. She will appear this week in the role of Tessie Kearns in the George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly comedy, Merton of the Movies which is being presented at the State University under the direction of James M. Leonard, associate professor, speech and dramatic art. The play will have a four-night run at the Page Hall Theatre on the old campus in Albany.

During her senior year at KHS, Miss Miller played the role of Mrs. Van Daan, in the school production of the Diary of Anne Frank.

AWARDS FOR LOCAL STUDIO—Geoffrey N. Fletcher, co-owner of the Photo Workshop in Kingston, attending the New York State Convention and Industrial Conference of Professional Photographers Society of New York at Grossinger's March 12-15. He was awarded one blue ribbon, one red ribbon and two white ribbons. These awards are given to entries in the Annual Exhibition of the Society showing excellence of craftsmanship. Mr. Fletcher's portrait photographs were chosen from more than 600 submitted by photographers from New York State, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut and Canada. The portraits will be displayed at Photo Workshop.

Sorosis of Kingston

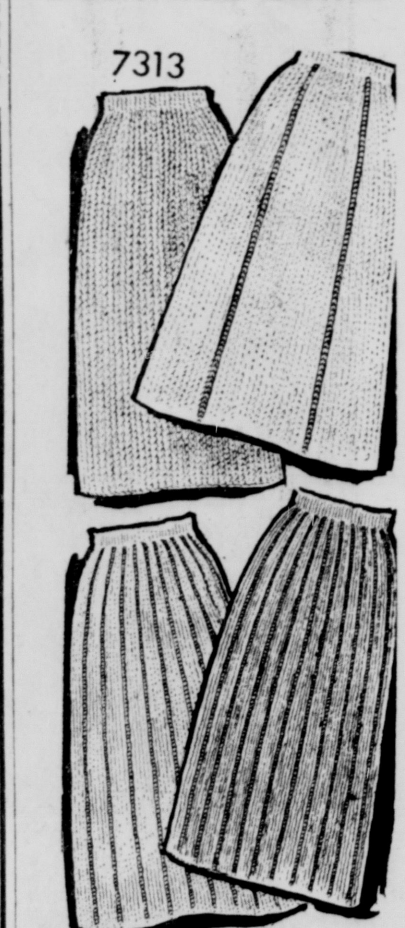

Sorosis of Kingston met March 13 in the home of Mrs. Clifford Henze in Hurley with 22 members and one guest present. Mrs. Raymond Johnson led devotions. Under the title "Spring Songs," Mrs. Clifford Henze gave a program on birds to be found in this area and how to identify and interpret their songs. Four descriptive words are used in identifying bird songs: trill, buzz, warble or whistle. The song of some birds is a combination of these sounds. Mrs. Henze played recordings of the various bird songs and identified them. The books of bird authorities, Roger Tory Peterson, Peter Paul Kellogg, and Arthur Allen were recommended.

A change in date and place of the next meeting was announced. Mrs. William Ochs will give a program on "Disliked Women" on April 10 in the home of Mrs. Grover Lasher.

Tea and a social hour was enjoyed following the program.

Cadette Troop 175, of Kingston has been devoting many of the winter weekends toward completing the Challenge of Emergency Preparedness on skis and snowshoes.

They have learned many interesting facts about map reading, compass, first aid, ski waxing, trail bags for snow trips on skis and snow shoes. Their practice was put to the test when they received an assignment recently with clues prepared by their leader. It was their responsibility to search for and recover a lost and injured child, in reality an oversized doll, administer first aid, for injuries and frost bite, prepare and use an emergency toboggan to return the victim to more expert help.

Leader of Troop 175 is Mrs. Ronald Hill who was assisted in the project by Mr. Hill.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR HOSPITAL—The Kingston Hospital Auxiliary presented a new piece of medical equipment to the hospital this week. It is designed to raise or lower body temperatures and will be used on post-operative patients, acutely ill patients with high temperatures caused by infections, and is suitable for both adult and pediatric patients. While such cases are fairly infrequent, it can be used to raise body temperature on those patients who have suffered prolonged exposure to cold. Examining the apparatus are (l-r) Mrs. Alfred Reylea, central service supervisor; Miss Barbara Clark, head nurse; Mrs. Henry Singer, Auxiliary member; and Robert Schnitzer, hospital administrator. Slated to Speak For Valley Lions Saturday Night

PAUL K. KLEINMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kleinman of Ellenville and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz, 70 N. Front Street, Kingston, has been accepted as a medical student to Down State Medical School, Brooklyn in the fall of 1967. He will be receiving his B.A. in June from Boston University.

Lions International Director Bab Simontacchi of Crockett, Calif., will be guest speaker at the District 20-0 Mid-Winter weekend conference at The Pines Saturday night, March 18 in South Fallsburg.

Simontacchi, who has held all the offices of local and district Lionism during his 33 years of perfect attendance with the Crockett Lions Club, will address Lions from the entire Hudson River Valley attending the two-day workshop seminars.

The conference, which was originated last year to present officers and members of District 20-0 clubs a concentrated weekend of Lionism training and social relaxation, will begin Friday night with a banquet over which District Governor Bernie Kiels will preside.

At 10 a. m. Saturday, forums will be conducted on various aspects of Lionism. Saturday afternoon will remain open for relaxation and winter sports activities, and will be followed by a pre-banquet cocktail hour starting at 6:30 p. m. International Director Simontacchi will address the banquet. Dancing and a floor show will follow.

The weekend conference will end at 1 p. m. Sunday after a morning session of workshop seminars on Lionism projects and activities. Some 2,200 Lions in the Hudson Valley compose District 20-0, and are expected to send close to 300 members to the second mid-winter weekend conference at the Pines.

Big Markets Set Food Price Drops

NEW YORK (AP) — Sure'n the supermarkets are reading themselves for the wearin' of the green this weekend.

There's corned beef for St. Patrick's Day celebrants on special in markets in the Northeast, Southeast and Midwest, and mounds of cabbage, to go with it.

A price war is under way in St. Louis, Mo. The Kroger Co. fired the first salvo, announcing it was cutting prices on 2,320 items. Spokesmen for three other chains said they would follow suit.

The outlook for the rest of the country is for prices lower than a year ago, when meat prices soared and fresh vegetables and fruits were high. Supplies are larger now.

First, there is plenty of beef this year. Beef cuts are being featured in the Midwest, and choice cuts are down 1 to 3 cents a pound in southern California.

Hog prices have dropped the lowest since the spring of 1965. There's a prospect of a 9 per cent increase in hog production.

A major supermarket chain in the New York area cut pork chops 30 cents a pound to 79 cents this week. Canned hams are piling up for Easter.

Broiler prices, down most of the winter, are inching up a bit. Egg prices, which have dropped sharply, are edging higher.

Turkey prices generally are much lower than a year ago. One big reason: 48 per cent more frozen turkey in storage. Milk production has been gaining slightly over last year's low levels. As a result, prices may decline until June. Farmers plan to raise the acreage they plant in major crop 7 per cent this year. If the weather is good, it could be the most bountiful harvest in American history — and some bargains in the supermarkets later this year.

Ahavah Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel every Friday 8 p. m., Saturday morning at 9:30, and Saturday evening at sundown, Sunday morning at 10 and Sunday evening at sundown. Junior congregation meets every Saturday morning at 11 o'clock for religious services for all boys and girls in the children's chapel. Refreshments follow the services for the children.

This Friday evening, March 17, Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will deliver the sermon on "The Jew of Leviticus," stressing the teachings found in the Book of Leviticus which is being read this Sabbath, and which emphasizes the differences between Jew and non-Jew. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The names of those whose yahrtzeiten will be observed this week will be read and the appropriate memorial prayers will be offered. The Oneg Shabbat will follow hosted by Mrs. Sidney Spiegel and Mrs. William Zwick, under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. Larry Jacobs.

At the Saturday morning services Rabbi Schechtman will summarize the Bible reading in the Book of Leviticus. A kiddush follows the morning service.

The USY, the youth organization of the congregation, will meet on Sunday morning for religious services, followed by breakfast and a study hour.

Tuesday evening the adult education class in comparative religion will meet for its last session of the season at the home of Rabbi and Mrs. H. Z. Schechtman.

Preparations are being made for the festival of Purim at Ahavath Israel. The Megillah, the Book of Esther, will be read in the traditional manner on Saturday night, March 25, at which time all adults and children are to attend at 7 p. m. Sunday, March 26, the Day of Purim, masquerade parties and socials will be held for all the children and teenagers. The USY will conduct a program for the children, followed by the symbolic foods served by the Sisterhood. Masquerade parades will be held at which time awards will be given for the best costumes. The USY will serve a lunch in the afternoon for all comers.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet this week for Hebrew class sessions until the beginning of the spring vacation. Hebrew classes will be suspended during the vacation period.

After watching those auto ads on TV you begin to wonder—where do they find all those empty roads where they film the commercials?

Boss (to new employee) — I want you to know that my door is always open—so please walk by quietly.

A man who is a chronic kicker was advised to consult a horse doctor.

Visitor (at a dude ranch)—I have never ridden a horse before. Foreman (reassuringly) — Oh, that's all right. I've got a horse that's never been ridden. Both of you can start off together.

Jack (the American)—It will contain, 20,000 red lights, 17,000 blue lights, 10,000 white lights, and a central sunburst of orange and purple.

EAGER BEAVER

This expression is applied to a hard-working person. It started during World War I. The name was given to underclassmen for their first 30 days, because they were expected to work rapidly at every task to prove their ability as the illustrious beaver, who works rapidly building dams.

But don't you think, old chap, that it will be just a bit conspicuous?

Visitor—And, wot was you thinkin' of doing wiv your boy, Mrs. Smith?

Mrs. Smith—Well, 'e's that that fond of animals 'is father was thinkin' of making a butcher-er of 'im.

You're only young once—after that, life gets pretty rugged!

Coaches Pick Murphy For First All-DUSO

Andrew J. Murphy of Kingston High, a second team choice of the DUSO Sports Writers and Broadcasters Association, has been named to the DUSO coaches' first basketball team for 1967.

The coaches and writers agreed on three selections — Leon Hanna of Kingston; Willie Bradley, Monticello and Bill Dockstader of Newburgh.

Vin Budd of Middletown and Bruce Gilligan, Kingston, the press picks for first team were relegated to the second team by the coaches. In their place they named Murphy and Steve Gruberg of Newburgh.

Named to the coaches' second team were Gilligan, Ken Cogswell (Liberty), Budd, Gene Gillen (Middletown) and Lorenzo Moore (Newburgh).

Ken Gilligan of Kingston drew honorable mention.

The writers' second team included Ken Gilligan, Murphy, Gillen, Cogswell and Gruberg.

Bradley, DUSO League scoring champion for the second straight year, led the coaches' balloting as he did the writers'.

Giants Tab Marichal As Definite Holdout

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of veteran pitchers have discovered they have some problems, while the San Francisco Giants have discovered they have a problem pitcher.

The problem is Juan Marichal.

Giants' President Horace Wednesday that contract negotiations with the ace right-hander have reached an impasse "and it looks like we have a definite holdout on our hands."

The club said Marichal has been offered $100,000 and that he is asking $110,000.

"The next move is up to Juan," Stoneham said.

Marichal, 25-6 with a 2.23 earned run average last season, is in the Dominican Republic.

Whitely Ford and Don Drysdale had problems of a different nature Wednesday. Drysdale, making his first start of the season for the Los Angeles Dodgers, gave up five hits and a run in three innings at Vero Beach, Fla., and the St. Louis Cardinals took a 5-2 exhibition victory.

Bulls Near Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls have taken a giant stride towards landing a spot in the NBA playoffs in their first season in the National Basketball Association.

The Bulls whipped the Detroit Pistons on the road Wednesday night 98-91 and moved into fourth place in the Western Division a half-game ahead of the now last-place Pistons.

The Bulls have two games left to play in the regular season ending Sunday, the Pistons three.

Jerry Sloan threw in 32 points to lead a second half Chicago rally that erased a 69-62 Detroit lead.

Baskets by Dave Bing, who led the Pistons with 28 points, pulled Detroit to within three points before the Bulls sewed it up on a 20-foot jumper by Jerry Sloan with 45 seconds to go.

Cincinnati broke a tie with the New York Knicks for third place in the Eastern Division. The Royals beat the Boston Celtics at home 112-108 while the Knicks lost on the road to the Baltimore Bullets 121-114.

Philadelphia Wins

Philadelphia came from behind in the second half to rout Los Angeles on the road 138-123 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday. The 76ers played the second half without Wilt Chamberlain. He was ejected for unsportsmanlike conduct with 75 seconds left in the first half.

Oscar Robertson's 31 points, including two free throws, insured the victory in the closing seconds, paced the Royals to their first conquest of the Celtics this season.

Kevin Loughery, with 29 points, led Baltimore over the Knicks. Two of his 11 free throws helped pull the Bullets out of danger after the Knicks had rallied to within 109-105. Walt Bellamy, with 32 points and 22 rebounds, paced the Knicks.

Billy Cunningham, with 31 points, and Hal Greer, with 29, led the second half attack for Philadelphia after the 76ers trailed at halftime 69-68. It was the 66th victory against only 12 defeats for the Eastern Division champs. Gail Goodrich's 26 points was high for the Lakers.

Fontaine Drives Feature Winner

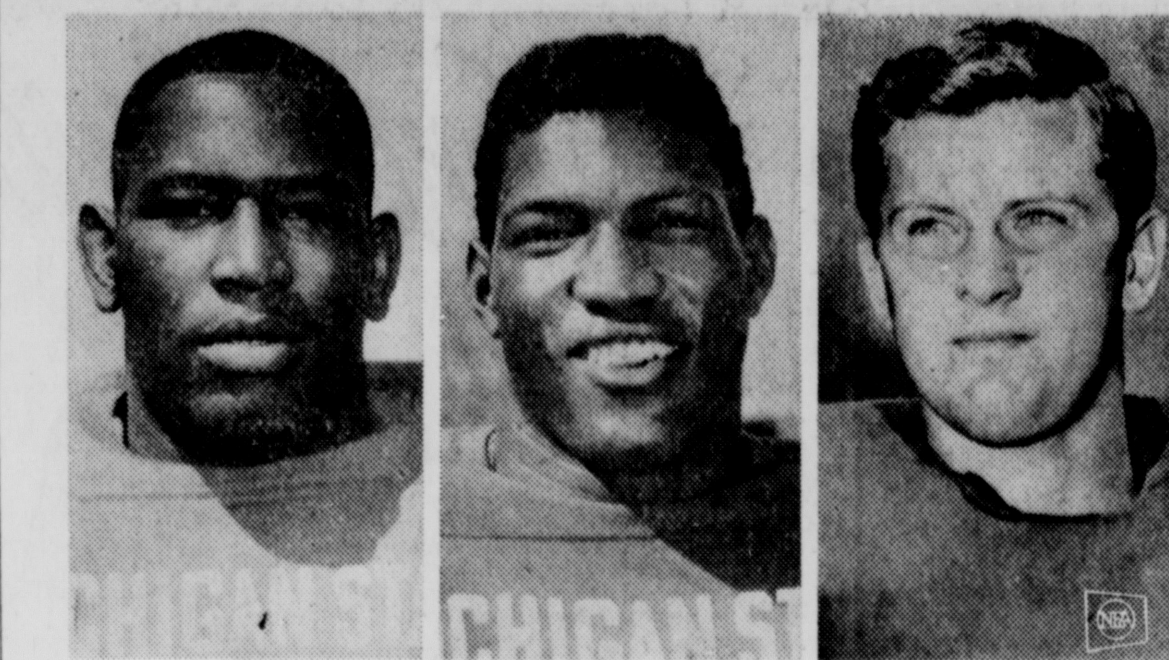

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lucien Fontaine drove Dark Flash to an easy victory Wednesday night over Lone Tree Ace in the featured trot at Roosevelt Raceway.

At Batavia Downs, the only other harness track currently operating in New York State, Caccialupi battled blowing snow and defeated Abbe Lark in the $14,000 pace.

Dark Flash, an 8-year-old gelding, covered the mile in 2:08 1-5 and returned $14,600. He took the lead at the three-quarter pole and coasted to a 1 1/2-length victory. Valley Home was third.

Caccialupi was clocked in 2:11 2-5 over the slow track. Nellis Grey finished third.

PRIZE COLLEGIANS picked as the top three choices in the combined pro football draft of the National and American leagues are, left to right, defensive end Charles (Bubba) Smith of Michigan State, halfback Clint Jones, also of MSU, and quarterback Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winner from Florida. Smith was selected by Baltimore, Jones by Minnesota and Spurrier by San Francisco—all of the NFL. (NEA Telephotos)

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Mike Ferraro is accumulating an impressive list of credits in his bid to make the 25-player New York Yankee varsity for the 1967 season.

He has played in every exhibition game to date, hit the ball sharply and been outstanding in the field.

Manager Ralph Houk has twice mentioned Mike as one of the Yankees' best prospects—in a TV interview and via telephone conversation with Channel 5.

There are few players in the game who rate with the most recent occupant of third base at the stadium—Clete Boyer—but Mike's golden glove could more than adequately fill the slot. He makes the round-the-horn (5-4-3) double play seem routine.

On the debit side, Ferraro has had to play second fiddle to Charlie Smith, obtained from the Cardinals in the Roger Maris deal.

Smith, an established major leaguer with the Mets and Cards, was promptly installed at third base. What else could Manager Raipa Houk do? Admit the trade was just a transaction to get an unhappy Maris out of New York?

Relegating Smith to the role of rookie would have made the Yankees look foolish. Smith came to New York in exchange for a $76,000 a year man. As a known major league quantity he had to be No. 1 third baseman in the camp.

• Satisfied With Glove

The Yankees are completely satisfied with Ferraro's glove. They're waiting to see if he can improve his batting average 10 or 15 points.

Smith is off and winging with the bat. He smashed two quick home runs, has hit the ball hard but there is nothing in his past that reveals him as anything but a routine hitter.

We recall a conversation with Wes Westrum after the Mets had traded Smith to the Cardinals in the Ken Boyer deal. Wes had strong reservations about Smith's ability to go the full distance. Maybe the Yankees know that, too.

The numbers game also mitigates against Ferraro. Because of two bonus players, there are only 23 places open on the roster. Generally, a major league team carries 10 pitchers, 6 infielders, 6 outfielders and 3 catchers.

The big question: Can Mike show enough in spring training to become part of a sextet with Mantle, Clarke, White, Howser and Amaro? At the moment the prospects are good.

• Casper Early Choice

Billy Casper is the early 4 to 1 choice to win the 1967 Masters. Experts see Casper near the top of his magnificent game and figure his superb putting should pay off on the tricky greens of the Augusta National. Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders and Jack Nicklaus (gunning for his third straight) are pegged at 6 to 1. The wisecracks figures Big Jack can't make it.

Millie Ignizio, 17-year-old Rochester lefthander, is the hottest gal bowler in the game today. She picked up a 300 score while winning her second Pro Women's Bowling Association event over the weekend. In between she rolled a 780 league series, second highest in the history of women's bowling.

• The Biggest Ever

No less than 2248 tickets were sold for the Section 9 basketball finals between Kingston and Newburgh at State University in New Paltz. The tumultuous victory climaxed another great season for Coach Jack Gilligan.

The team's 16-4 record just missed the 17-3 standard set in Joe Uhl's senior year. But the 1966-67 Maroons captured three major titles — DUSO, Section 9 and Christmas Festival. Uhl's squad lost the Section 9 finals to Nyack by one point.

• Doerr on George Scott

Bobby Doerr, one of the all-time Boston Red Sox second basemen, was talking about George Scott, Soxos rookie, who is one of the most powerful physical specimens in baseball.

"Scott is as strong as any batter you'd care to see," Doerr remarked.

As strong as Jimmy Fox, his old teammate?

"You bet he is," Doerr replied without hesitation. "Strong as anybody."

What does Scott have to do to correct his faults and reach a degree of consistency that will make him a major league batter?

"He must learn to chop down on the ball," Doerr explained. "He must be a wrist hitter, just like Hank Aaron. We keep hollering 'Hank Aaron, Hank Aaron' at Scott everytime he hits. This is to remind him to be quick with those wrists and try to hit the ball through the middle."

FLORIDA BEAUTY—Ernest Pick of Blue Mountain, Town of Saugerties, is pictured with the 50-pound sailfish he entered in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament. He fished with Capt. Lacey on the Top Luck out of Castaway Docks in North Miami Beach. Pick landed the beauty after a half hour battle between the Bahamas and Bimini. He will receive a citation for his outstanding catch. Fish in background are also part of his day's catch.

Vermont, Coast Teens Tops at Mt. Stowe Races

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Two families of young skiers from Vermont and California dominated the opening day of the 1967 National Junior Alpine Championships and it could be more of the same when competition resumes Friday.

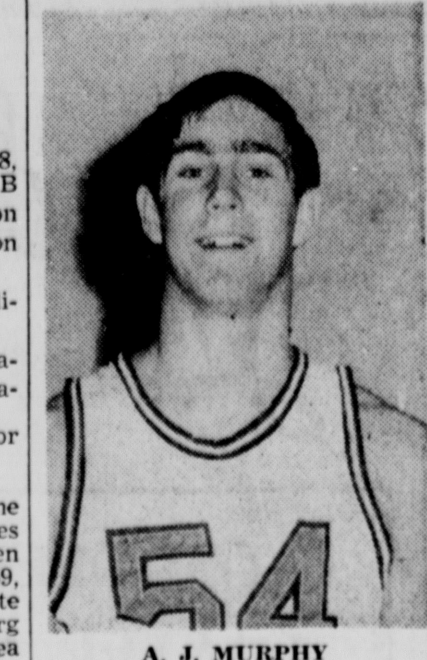

Bobby Cochran, 15, of Richmond, Vt., won the boys' giant slalom Wednesday, flashing down the 52-grade course in 2:14.22 for a 28 second advantage over runner-up Pat Simpson, also 15, of Sun Valley, Idaho.

Sandy Poulson, 14, of Olympic Valley, Calif., negotiated the shorter girls' course in 1:36.41 to win that event, with second place going to 17-year-old Marilyn Cochran, Bobby's sister, who missed out by just .03 of a second.

But that wasn't all for the two skiing families.

Barbara Cochran, 16, finished fourth in the girls' race, and Miss Poulson's brother Eric, 16, came in fifth in the boys' event.

The success wasn't a novelty for the Cochrans — all three now have national titles under their belts. Marilyn won the junior slalom crown last year, and Barbara was the giant slalom winner.

Nicklaus Ready For Jacksonville; Masters in April

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus became a millionaire by playing golf, but the 27-year-old Ohio better says he thinks there are "lots of things more important in life than beating a golf ball around a course."

The three-time Masters champion — and only golfer to win consecutive titles — isn't ready to halt his bid to become the game's undisputed top player, however.

"As long as I enjoy it and can compete successfully, I'll play," the blond distance-hitter said before starting his challenge in the $100,000 Jacksonville Open today.

Nicklaus won the Bing Crosby Tournament in January for his last triumph, but his failure to claim championships in the spring swing doesn't worry him.

"Any time I play, I play to win," Nicklaus said. "But you can hit your peak only five or six times a year, and I don't want to burn myself out this spring before all the big tournaments come up."

Nicklaus admitted he is pointing toward the Masters next month, where he will be trying for a third straight title, but he believes his game is good enough now to win the $20,000 prize that goes to the Jacksonville winner.

Doug Sanders is defending champion in the Jacksonville Open, but said his putting still is "lousy," and all of golf's other top names — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Julius Boros, Gay Brewer and Canadian George Knudson — will be challenging him for his title, along with Nicklaus.

But that wasn't all for the two skiing families.

Sprinklers Making Late Bid For Mardi-Bob League Title

By HUGH REYNOLDS
(Staff Reporter)

Watch out for those Kingston guys!

That's what they're saying in the Mardi-Bob All-Star League in Poughkeepsie lately about the Mid-Hudson Sprinkler team that has reeled off five consecutive 3,000 or better series in the league considered to be the toughest in Dutchess County.

The Sprinklers have been dominating the league for the past five weeks during which they posted high team triple (3194) and high team single (1144).

The squad boasts a 953 average led by Tom Carlinio's 200. Dick Howard is next with 193. Hal Broskie has 190, John Spada is at 186 and Tony Spada is averaging 184.

Father-Son Act
John is Tony's father and the two have been waging a battle for high average all season. Tony had eased ahead of the senior Spada with a string of four straight 600's. However, last week, John found the range for a career high 690 while Tony was struggling home with 511.

It might be noted that Tony, a senior at Marist College, bowls in the All-Star while John is on the lanes four times a week. Both have been bowling for about five years.

Tom Carlinio has been coming on strong all season. He hasn't been under 625 in two months in that league and just last week went over the 200 average mark. Dick Howard is the team's anchor man and can be counted on to come through in the clutch. Hal Broskie still throws that big bender and when it's working, watch out!

Although the league has only eight teams the scores are big and so is the money at the end of the season. Phil Versace leads in average with 219 as well as high series, the 813 he shot a few months ago.

290 High Single
Gus Vaselekos has the high single, 290, shot early in the season. Versace is next with a 289 effort followed by John Avello's 287. Avello is second with high series, 748. Charlie Shaw is next with 727.

High series are commonplace in the league. On at least two occasions this season the entire league has averaged over 200 for the 40 bowlers.

That 727 is an example of how tough the league really is. Al Passano blasted a 269 finale and a 726 series a few weeks ago (against the Sprinklers) and was happily accepting congratulations on making the board.

Ten minutes later the sounds of "Way to go, Al," were drowned out by the applause from another set of lanes. Charlie Shaw had 727.

Nine Off Pace

The Sprinklers are currently 41-37 thanks to a very slow start. They're nine games back of the league leading Hoe Corporation which stands at 52-26. Guess who bowls on that team?

First is just about gone for the Sprinklers but second is a definite possibility. Shaker, Travis and Quinn is in the turnover slot at 45-33. Second is worth $700, a nice consolation prize.

Walcott Likes Folley's Chances To Upset Cassius

NEW YORK (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott, who was 37-years-old and a 6-1 underdog when he won the heavyweight title, says Zora Folley has a good chance to upset heavyweight champion Cassius Clay next Wednesday night.

Folley, 34, and a 5-1 long shot, agrees.

Walcott was 33 when he got his first shot at the title and almost whipped Joe Louis in 1947. Four years later he knocked out Ezzard Charles in the seventh round and became the champion.

Defeats and hard times marked Jersey Joe's ring career until he got his first big shot at Louis and almost pulled a great upset.

"From my experience," said Walcott, "when you finally get your first chance at the title you step in forgetting everything that went before. It's a lifelong dream at last here and you're ready for the fight of your life."

"He's right," Folley said Wednesday. "That's the way I feel. It's like a dream come true. I never even came close to a title fight all the years I was the No. 1 contender. Floyd Patterson wouldn't give me a chance."

"Now I feel real good at finally getting the chance. I'm in good shape and I feel 100 per cent better because I'm getting the chance after all these years."

Did he think he could knock out Clay?

"Sure," replied the old pro. "He doesn't like to get hit in the face and I might be able to get him out."

Sweeps Postponed

Teams that were unable to bowl in the Cerebral Palsy sweepstakes may do so next Wednesday, March 22, it has been announced. Only those snowed out yesterday are eligible.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Top-seeded Tony Roche of Australia beat Ronald Barnes of Brazil 6-2, 6-1, Wednesday to reach the quarter-finals of the Altamira International Tennis Tournament.

Illini Strategy Guarded Secret

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois, ordered to fire three coaches in its $21,000 slush fund scandal or face ouster, from the Big Ten, goes into the showdown Saturday playing its cards close to the chest.

"I won't be able to say until after Saturday's meeting," university President Dr. David D. Henry replied Wednesday when asked whether Illinois has a counterproposal to the Big Ten demand to fire the coaches. Dr. Henry called the demand "too harsh."

The meeting was requested by Dr. Henry and convened Wednesday by the Big Ten's commissioner, Bill Reed. Policy-making faculty representatives from the conference's nine other members will be present Saturday at the Chicago meeting.

Illinois must appeal by Friday the faculty group's March 3 mandate upholding a Feb. 22 action by Big Ten athletic directors.

The directors at that time ordered the firing of head football coach Pete Elliott, head basketball coach Henry Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun.

Five Illinois athletes were ruled permanently ineligible. Two others were suspended for one year. Seven who were suspended by the school Dec. 23 were reinstated March 3 by the faculty group.

At the March 3 session, Dr. Henry pleaded for 45 minutes on behalf of the school, the 14 athletes and the coaches. Although the school had been ordered to show cause why it should not be expelled from the Big Ten, the faculty members held that the March 3 appearance did not fall in the "show cause" category. Saturday's meeting apparently does.

AHL Hershey Six Can't Beat Pitt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Color the Hershey Bears Gray today.

Leading the American Hockey League's Eastern Division all season, Hershey still hasn't been able to solve the hex Pittsburgh's Terry Gray seems to hold over them.

Gray's third period goal gave the Hornets a 4-0 victory over Hershey in Wednesday night's only AHL game.

The goal, which came early in the third period, was Gray's fourth in eight games against Hershey this season. Three of his goals were game winners.

The victory was the sixth straight for Pittsburgh, the AHL's Western Division leaders, over Hershey and trimmed the Bears' Eastern margin to six points over Baltimore with nine games remaining.

Billy Harris and Gary Jarrett drew assists on Gray's game winner and goalie Hank Bassen turned in his first shutout with 39 saves.

Texas Quintet Junior Threats

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Ranger, Tex., emerged Wednesday night as a powerhouse and possible contender for the National Junior College Basketball Tournament championship by knocking out Burlington, Iowa, 98-68.

The Texans had no trouble with Burlington and led 59-30 at the half.

Another Texas team, San Jacinto of Pasadena, gained the semifinals earlier by downing Wright of Chicago 89-78.

Tops for San Jacinto was 6-2 Oliver Taylor, who scored 27 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. High for Wright was Buddy Haines with 33.

Rochester, Minn., was the first to be eliminated, losing to Trenton, N.J., 94-80. Rochester was the only undefeated team to enter the tournament and had a 29-0 record.

In first-round play, Powell, Wyo., downed Palatka, Fla., 91-86, and Cameron of Lawton, Okla., defeated Ferrum, Va., 75-62.

Today's schedule includes Ferrum and Palatka, Wright and Burlington, and Dodge City and Broome Tech of Binghamton, N.Y., all in the loser's bracket.

Tonight in quarter-final games Cameron will meet Powell, and Boise, Idaho, will play Moberly, Mo.

Oneonta's Lee Tops in SUNYAC

Mack Lee, Oneonta State's fine sophomore center from Peekskill, led the State University of New York Athletic Conference in scoring with a 20.7 point average in the basketball season just completed.

Ed Shuster of State U. (New Paltz) placed 12th with a 13.8 average and teammate Ernie Maywalt was 15th with 12.8.

Runnerup to Lee was Buffalo State's Charlie Davis with 19.8 average. A Rochester native, Davis was named to the ECAC Division II All-East basketball team on three occasions this season.

Les Grigsby, another Oneonta player, took third place with a 19.4 point output per contest.

Top Goal Shooter

Benji Bluman of Buffalo hit on 47 of 68 goal attempts to lead the league with a shooting percentage of 69.1. Runnerup was Clarence Miller, Plattsburgh, 64.4 per cent, followed by Genesee State's Paul Green with 64.4.

Russ Finegan of Potsdam rushed in 30 of 36 free throw tries to pace foul shooters with 83.3 per cent. John Noworyta, Buffalo, was second with 82.7. New Paltz's Richard Josephs was 7th with 74 per cent.

Top rebounder in the conference was Jim Coalier of Fredonia with 20.1 per game. He picked off 181 rebounds in nine games. Ed Shuster of New Paltz was fifth with 14.2 average and the Hawks' Pete Branner 13th on the list with 9 average.

Buffalo Top Team

Buffalo State, the undefeated conference champion (9-0) led the team offense statistics with a 90.6 point per game average.

Potsdam, meanwhile, continued to show not only conference foes, but all their opponents that the name of the game is "defense." They limited the nine colleges of the SUNYAC to meagre 58.4 points per game.

More SUNYAC players were named to the ECAC All-East squad this year than any of the four years the conference has existed. Howie Magee of Potsdam, Jim Coalier of Fredonia, Al Kozen and Charlie Davis of Buffalo were a few.

Conference records fell by the wayside as the various colleges continue to grow stronger each year. These records will be submitted for sanction of the basketball committee at the Annual Conference meeting this spring.

Draft Pat Riley For Pro Football

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Pat Riley of Schenectady, a standout basketball player at the University of Kentucky, has been drafted by the Dallas Cowboys of the professional National Football League.

The agile basketball player is no stranger to the gridiron, however. Riley was an outstanding quarterback at Linton High School here and gained national recognition in 1963, the last time he played organized football.

Riley was in Florida and unavailable for comment on his draft Wednesday, but his mother said that "if he goes and plays football now, it won't shock me."

Throughout his collegiate career as a basketball player, Riley has been cited for recognition by several magazines and sports publications.

A spokesman for the Cowboys, who drafted Riley on the 11th-round pick, said Riley would be tried as a defensive back.
